SCOPE OF M'CRAY HEARING LIMITED

Referee in Bankruptcy Refuses to Permit Queries Relating to Criminal Side of Question

SOLVENCY UNDER INQUIRY

Governor McCray Declares He Gave $125,000 in Notes to Secure Fair Board Loan of $155,000

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 20—Scope of the hearing on the bankruptcy petition against Governor McCray was limited to the questions of the governor's occupation and his solvency by Harry C. Sheridan, referee in bankruptcy today.

When attorneys for the three Fort Wayne banks, seeking to have McCray declared bankrupt, asked McCray what representation he made in securing loans from banks, Sheridan sustained the objection of McCray's attorney to the question.

Sheridan held it was not "pertinent to inquire whether McCray was criminally or morally wrong, or whether he had obtained money by fraudulent or immoral means."

Governor McCray declared he gave $125,000 in notes as security for the board of agriculture loan of $155,000 when he took the stand today to complete his testimony.

The governor asked permission to correct a statement he made in the testimony Friday when he said he had given only about $80,000 security for the loan.

"The notes amounted to $125,000, if I recollect rightly," McCray said today. "I overlooked one batch of notes Friday."

Hume Sammons, of Kentland, took up the examination of the governor in place of W. J. Vesey, who questioned him the first two days.

"After the state board of agriculture loan was paid, what became of the notes," Sammons asked.

"They were turned over to the Aetna Trust company," the governor replied.

McCray submitted in evidence of what he said was a complete list of the notes.

McCray did not have the revised statement of his liabilities ready to present when the hearing opened, although Harry C. Sheridan, referee in bankruptcy, had directed him to turn it in the first thing this morning.

James W. Noel, McCray's attorney, explained that it would be impossible to complete the statement before Wednesday because numerous revisions in the list had been necessary.

CAR DRIVEN BACK ON ITS OWN POWER

CAR NOT BADLY DAMAGED

The Lincoln touring car from Cincinnati, which five young men are said to have stolen Saturday night from that city, and started on a "joy ride" to Indianapolis, and which figured in an accident just east of Arlington, resulting in the death of the driver, Raymond Glaser, was driven back to Cincinnati this morning, where it will be turned over to the owner, Edgar K. Woodrow, 2525 Chatham street.

The machine was not damaged seriously, except a smashed top and a broken windshield, and it was being driven back this morning on its own power.

The authorities are looking for the four companions of the victim, who are wanted by the Cincinnati police. Two of them, James Curran and Charles Geran, were back in Rushville yesterday afternoon, and gave a statement to a representative of the Daily Republican, but at that time it was not known that they were wanted, or they would have been detained. In leaving they stated that they were going to see the police chief, but they eluded him, according to Orin Blackburn, the chief.

The other two gave their names as Thomas Rafferty and William Nierouter.

BERT M'BRIDE FAVORS PLAN

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 20—Reorganization plans for the Anderson Foundry and Machine company at Anderson, a subsidiary of the R. L. Dollings company of Indiana, are satisfactory, Bert McBride, receiver for the Dollings Company, declared today after a meeting with the stockholders in Anderson yesterday.

Winfield T. Durbin of Anderson, receiver for the Foundry company, is a leader in the reorganization plans. The Anderson plant and four other Dollings subsidiaries in Indiana are now operating successfully, McBride said.

OBSERVANCE OF WEEK IS BEGUN

First Community School Meetings Are Held Monday Night at Center Church and Manilla

ONLY ONE SET FOR TONIGHT

Rushville High School Announces Visiting Day Friday—City Observance Wednesday Night

The county-wide observance of American Education Week got under way Monday evening with community meetings at Manilla and Center church, at which educational topics were discussed. John A. Tittsworth, Rushville attorney, spoke at Center, and Benjamin J. Barris, state superintendent of public instruction, was the speaker at Manilla.

The only county meeting scheduled for today will be held at Glenwood at 8 p. m., at the school building and the address will be delivered by J. H. Schell, superintendent of the Rushville schools. The slogan for today is "Visit the Schools Today. America First."

Five meetings are to be held Wednesday at Carthage, New Salem, Webb school, Osborne school in Jackson township and the Graham high school building in Rushville. All of them will be held in the evening except the Carthage meeting, which will be at 2:30 p. m., in the community building.

The Rushville high school today announced that it would observe the week by holding a visiting day next Friday, when parents and patrons are urged to visit the class room work.

"The faculty has expressed unanimous regret," says a statement from the Graham high school today, "that there have been no class room visits this school year. It is obvious that mutual benefit can be obtained from co-operation of teachers and parents."

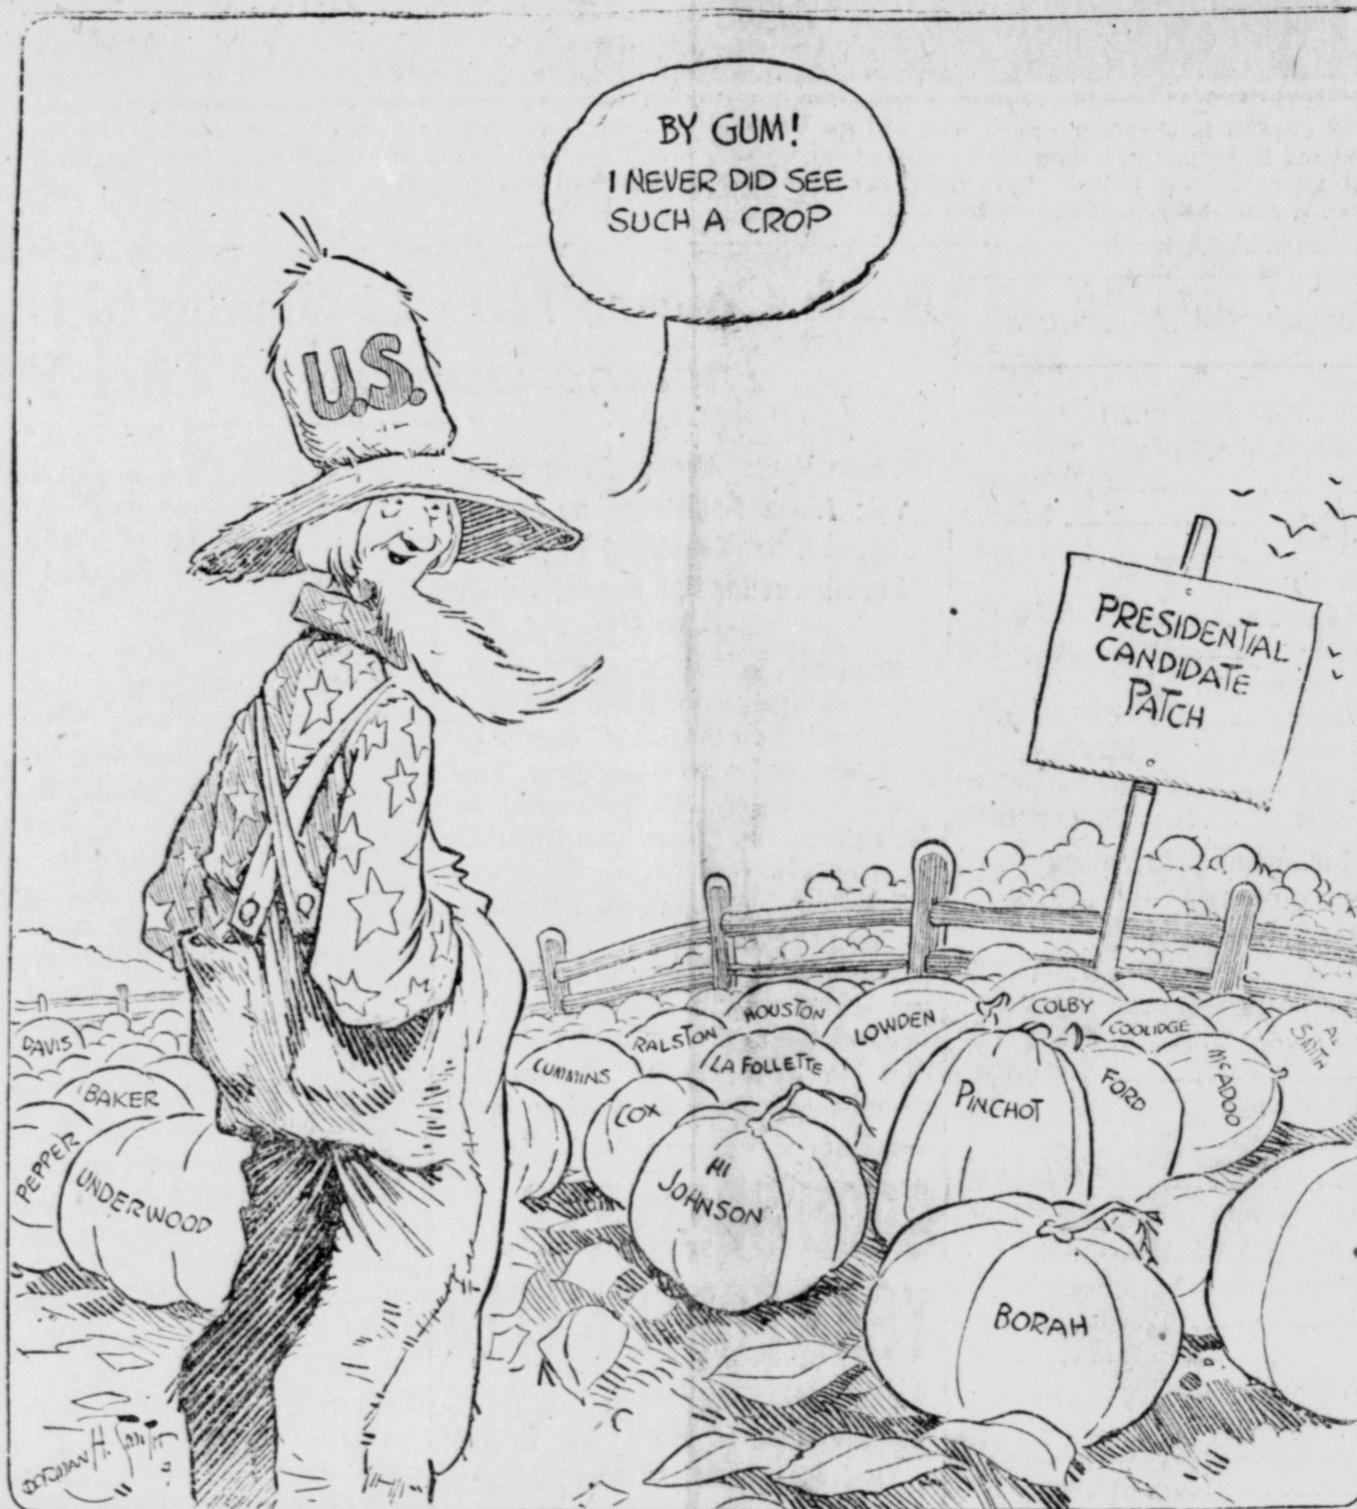

"The teachers feel that the parents should be interested in class work as it is going forward each day. For that reason they have elected to have a visiting day instead of an exhibit of completed work. Early as it is in the school year, much can be gained by an understanding of the work and aims of the year."

The Manilla meeting Monday night was made very entertaining with a special program by the high school chorus and the girls' glee club. Many phases of Education Week were emphasized and the address by Mr. Barris proved one of the best heard in Manilla for many months.

John H. Kiplinger, Rushville attorney, will speak at the Rushville city observance Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the assembly room of the Graham high school building. A general invitation to attend is extended. Besides emphasizing the need of education for all of the people, he will tell about the schools of Europe, which he had an opportunity to observe while employed by the international reparations commission following the close of the war.

At this meeting a Parent-Teachers' Association for Rushville will be organized. Parent-teacher organizations have been most helpful wherever organized and carried on according to the best plans. What this organization desires is the enlistment of teachers and parents in interests common to both through the medium of the P. T. A. meetings. These meetings offer the opportunity for parent and teacher to know each other, not Continued on Page Five

PHYSICAL SIDE OF PUPIL NEGLECTED

A. L. Trester Pleads For Extension of This Class of Education to All School Children

ATHLETICS IS DISCUSSED

All Right if Properly Handled, Secretary I. S. H. A. A. Tells Rotary Club Today Noon

Arthur L. Trester, permanent secretary of the Indiana High School Athletic association, speaking before the Rotary club today noon, asserted that he believed in scholarship as thoroughly as any school man, but that "we have neglected moral and physical education."

"We have been using athletic activities to make men and women," he asserted. "I'll admit that we are not handling all of them. But we are going to try and interest you in a program that will carry physical training to every pupil of the public schools."

His address to the Rotary club was a part of the American Education Week program that has been arranged for this week. Mr. Trester also spoke to the high school this morning about athletics in the high school and made his customary argument that they be kept clean.

George H. Davis, general manager of the Rushville Co-operative Telephone company, was introduced as a new member of the club.

As guests of the club today, E. B. Thomas of San Juan, Porto Rico; Ralph Payne of West Palm Beach, Florida; Donald McIntosh of Indianapolis; William Pell and Mr. Williams of Shelbyville, and Fred Bills, of Lewisville, were present.

Mr. Trester praised the school teacher for his unselfish devotion to his work, pointing out that most teachers did make a sacrifice in continuing in the profession. The burden of his address, however, was on athletics.

"Athletics is all right if properly handled," Mr. Trester asserted. "Athletic competition will always exist. The person who starts out to eliminate it is in for a hard job. It is perfectly natural that boys and girls should compete. They have a right to."

"School men came into this thing too late. Boys used to have to run off from school to play games. School men first started in to crush it, holding it was an evil. They thought play was no part of a boy or girl, but they were wrong. The sad Continued on Page Five

GARY SCHOOL IN PERFECT RECORD

One Room Building in Posey Township Scores 100 Percent in Attendance Last Month

COUNTY AVERAGE 96.6

Manilla Has Best Consolidated School Average And Richland is First in Two Room Schools

The average attendance in the schools of Rush county for the month of October was 96.6, according to the figures compiled by B. D. Farthing, county school superintendent, and with the Gary, one room building in Posey township, holding the lead for the percent of attendance with a perfect score of 100 percent for the ten pupils enrolled.

Manilla, with 98.3 percent, led the consolidated schools and Richland with 97.7 percent led the two room buildings.

ON A BUSY CORNER

Dayton, Ohio, Nov. 20—An armed man walked into the east end branch of the Dayton Savings and Trust bank here today, forced Charles McMullen, cashier to scoop $5,000 or more in currency into a bag, walked out with the loot and disappeared. Robbery occurred at a busy corner where scores of people were passing.

WOULD LYNCH RUMRUNNER

Crowds Seek Life of Man Accused of Slaying Caldwell, O., Sheriff

Caldwell, Ohio, Nov. 20—Crowds of excited citizens milling about the jail here threatened the safety of an alleged rum runner held as a suspect in the slaying early today of Charles Moore, 51, Noble county sheriff.

The suspect was captured by a posse near here. Sheriff Moore was killed when he attempted to arrest two men accused by citizens of boisterous conduct. A second suspect in the slaying is held in jail at Dyesville.

Shouts of "lynch him" answered attempts of city authorities to pacify the crowds.

TO DELAY TRIAL OF JOHN HASTY

HEARD BY CIRCUIT COURT JURY

Two Suits of Peoples Bank and Loan And Trust Co. Against Fores Settled And Dismissed

A jury today was hearing the case of Marion Boes and Catherine Boes against Robert H. Parker, in the circuit court, and it was stated this afternoon that the evidence would not be completed today, which would cause a postponement in the case of the State against John Hasty, scheduled to start in the morning.

The suit being heard today involves a contract between landlord and tenant, and several witnesses were used. The testimony was lengthy for the most part, as the witnesses testified regarding the farm agreement between the parties.

Two important law suits were dismissed this afternoon in court, one being filed recently by the Peoples National bank against Jonathan F. Fore and Claude F. Fore, a suit to foreclose a mortgage, and for the appointment of a receiver, in which the plaintiffs had demanded $13,500 judgment.

The other complaint dismissed was filed by the Peoples Loan and Trust Company, against the same defendants and for which the demand was for $12,000 judgment on a note that was alleged to be past due.

It is understood that the banking institutions adjusted a settlement, and the suits were ordered dismissed.

More than sixty witnesses were being summoned today by deputy sheriff Ed Spradling for the case of the State against John Hasty, who is charged with conspiracy to commit a felony, and which was set for Wednesday.

On account of the case today overlapping, it will be necessary for the witnesses to be notified tonight that they will not be used, and the case will have to be reset for a hearing later on.

Hasty, and three others are charged with stealing chickens, after entering into a conspiracy with each other, and the state elected to try John Hasty first. The other three defendants are his two sons and a son-in-law.

REICHSTAG IS UNDER GUARD

Attempt To Take Chancellor Stresemann's Life Feared in Berlin

Berlin, Nov. 20—Extra police guarded the Reichstag when it opened today in fear of an attempt to assassinate Chancellor Stresemann. President Lobe revealed to the United Press.

He said it was feared someone might fire at the chancellor as the assassins of the late Herr Rathenau did in the chamber.

President Ebert is prepared to empower Chancellor Stresemann to dissolve the reichstag if a vote of "no confidence" is passed against him in the session beginning today, according to an unconfirmed report here today.

If true this would give the chancellor the whip hand in meeting the opposition to policies he considers vital, it was pointed out.

GLAND TROUBLE HEADS THE LIST

PHYSICAL REPORT MADE

Havens, Graham Annex and Washington School Children Have Been Examined by Local Board

The work of making the physical examination of the city school children has been completed in three more schools, according to a report made today, which includes the schools of the Havens building, the Graham Annex and the Washington school.

The Jackson school report was finished several weeks ago, and the result was announced.

Glandular trouble seems to be the prevailing ailment with the school children, while nose and throat troubles are prominent agencies noticed by the examining board.

Defective teeth also is listed frequently as a defect among the children, and many are listed as being undernourished. A few from each building were passed as being without a defect noticeable, and their names have been placed on the files as being in excellent health.

The report of the pupils at the Haven's building is as follows: defects, nose 34; throat 89; glands 109; teeth 49; lungs 1; heart 4; eyes 23; ears 8; general appearance 15; undernourished 22; skin 5.

Those who were listed as having no defects from the Haven's building were, Anna Ervin, Dolores Colyer, Eugene Pea, Lavern Littrel, Carry Long, Marie McCarty, Gilbert Dickson, Edward Bush, Golda Borders, Elvan Beach, Emsley Gilson, Lillian Shepherd and Ruth Trennepohl.

The defects reported among the children examined at the Graham Annex building, are as follows: nose 26; throat 96; glands 124; ears 8; teeth 43; nutrition 19; heart 5.

COOKING SCHOOL TO BE HELD HERE AGAIN

Scheduled For Princess Theatre by Daily Republican, Co-Operation With Local Merchants

CAUSE FOR EARLY PLANS

Another Daily Republican cooking school, similar to the one held here eighteen months ago, was announced today, and the news was greeted with delight by a number of Rushville women who heard of it in advance of the public announcement.

The school, as in the other instance, will be given in co-operation with the management of the Princess theatre and local merchants, at the Princess, and will take place January 8, 9, 10 and 11, 1924. The dates are being announced for in advance so that insofar as possible, conflicts with other events may be avoided so that all of the women of the community will have an opportunity to attend.

The school will be in charge of Mrs. Margaret E. Brown and Miss Johnson, both of whom were at the previous school and both of whom have given demonstrations at the Rushville high school. Mrs. Brown has also given domestic science demonstrations at local grocery stores. Since conducting the cooking school, here, Mrs. Brown has taught domestic science for a year, but returned to this work recently.

While conferring with Rushville women Monday regarding the cooking school, she gave some of her personally tried recipes for the new Methodist church cook book that will soon be issued.

Why Druggists Recommend Swamp-Root

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney liver and bladder medicine. It is a physicians prescription. Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.

General Opinion of Workers is That Turning Point is Near And Future Holds Brighter Prospects

By BRUCE SHORT
President Engineering Sales Corporation
(Written for United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 20—Even in the face of slowing steel production during the last week, all indications thus far point to a good volume of general business in 1924.

There is a good volume of work in project that has been delayed during the past year by excessive prices, the housing shortage has not been met, the farmer is gradually getting in the mark again, and there is no reserve stock of steel and other necessities with the exception of wheat.

If these conditions do not point to a fairly prosperous year, they surely do not point to a depression. Another important factor is seen in the Calumet steel region of Indiana, indicating the trend that business is expected to take next year.

The Inland steel company plant at Indiana Harbor has discontinued its third shift on large mills, thereby throwing 1,000 men out of employment but work has not been discontinued on its new $1,000,000 plant.

The discontinuance of the third shift is only a temporary condition and fails to indicate any significant condition except a momentary lull in business, but the continuance of work on the new plant shows that the company has faith in the outlook for the next year and for the future.

The general opinion of steel workers is that the turning point is near and the future holds brighter prospects.

Difference between shipments and booking of new orders has had little effect on prices. The status is the same as for October in that buyers are holding out for concessions and producers see advantage in price cutting.

Rush County Has 21 Students In Indiana University This Year

Thirteen Young People From Rushville Alone Registered at Bloomington, First Tabulated Figures on Enrollment for Fall Semester Show

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 20—Rushville and Rush county are contributing as usual to the heavy enrollment at Indiana university this year. Tabulated figures on the enrollment for the fall semester show that Rushville has thirteen students at the state university while the number for Rush county is twenty-one.

The largest increase is in the college of arts and sciences where 317 more students are enrolled this year than last year. Of the professional schools, commerce is proving most popular with an increase of 200 students. The total of commerce and pre-commerce students is nearly 900 this year, as compared with about 700 for last year.

More than 700 courses are being conducted in the six schools and thirty odd departments of the university by a faculty numbering 206.

In spite of the tremendous increase in enrollment at Indiana university class room conditions are less crowded than usual this year owing to the fact all rooms in the new commerce building have been completed and are now being used. Overcrowding has been further relieved through the action of the faculty in requiring that a large number of classes be held in the afternoon.

Rushville: Maurice G. Brickler, Janet Dean, Harold John Tittsworth, Florence Corinne Flechart, Leona Frances Fletcher, Margaret L. Herkless, Maude Muller Jones, Wm. Leonadus Moore, Lillian E. Mullins, William G. Sparks, Max B. VanOsdol, Mary Juanita Wilson, Blanche Young (nurses training school Indianapolis).

Carthage: Lawrence B. Carter.

Glenwood: Helen Irene Reed.

Knightstown: Stella Lucille Ales, Mary Lillian Cubel, Daniel West Holmes.

Manilla: Clyde Albert Baker.

A Four-Year-Old's Revenge.

Little Jack had been so persistently naughty that mother just had to give him a good spanking and all that afternoon a desire for revenge rankled in his little breast. At length bedtime came and, kneeling down, he said his evening prayer, asking a blessing upon all the members of the family individually—except one. Then rising he turned to his mother with a triumphant look, saying as he climbed into bed, "I s'pose you noticed you wasn't in it."—Boston Transcript.

Realize what Kellogg's Bran means to your family's health?

Eaten regularly each day, Kellogg's Bran will permanently relieve constipation; it will free you from dangerous toxic poisons that lead to 90% of all human illness; it will remove the cause and sweeten a bad breath; it will clear a pimply complexion through its work on the bowels. In fact, Kellogg's Bran, through its natural action as a bulk, indigestible agent, will tone-up the whole system!

If you knew exactly what constipation means from a medical view-point you would lose no time eating Kellogg's Bran yourself and serving it daily to your family. And, Kellogg's is actually delicious, its nut-like flavor adding greatly to the enjoyment of eating cereals. Eat at least two table-spoonfuls each day; in chronic cases, with each meal.

There are many attractive ways to serve Kellogg's Bran. Eat it in winter with hot milk as a cereal. Or, mix it with cereals before serving. Many housewives cook it with cereals, in each case adding two table-spoonfuls for each person. You will also enjoy the nut-like flavor of Kellogg's Bran when it has been sprinkled over hot or cold cereals.

You have missed some of the joys of life if you have not eaten raisin bread, muffins, griddle-cakes, etc., made with Kellogg's Bran. Recipes are printed on each box.

Don't delay your fight against constipation; don't lose a minute in the great battle against illness! You can buy Kellogg's Bran from all grocers and you can have it served in individual packages at first-class hotels, restaurants and clubs.

Church's Growth And Contribution to Ideal of Democracy is Outlined by Minister

"Baptist History and Baptist Principles" was the subject of the Rev. G. C. Chandler of Indianapolis who opened the Missionary Chautauqua at the First Baptist church Monday night.

Mr. Chandler gave a brief resume of Baptist history, showing the church's growth and contribution especially to the ideal of democracy and religious freedom.

Turning to the question of Baptist principles, Mr. Chandler said in part: "First, Baptists stand for the bible. It is their final court of appeal in all matters of faith and practice. It does not need the creeds nor the church councils to interpret and determine its message."

"Second, Baptists stand for regeneration, or 'the birth from above', as a basis for church membership."

"Third, Baptists stand for believer's baptism only, the immersion of the believer in obedience to Christ's command, as a symbol of the death to the old life and the resurrection to the new."

"Fourth, Baptists stand for the separation of church and state, and for the largest measure of civil and religious liberty."

The second address will be given tonight on "Stewardship", by the Rev. Harry O'Dell of Elwood. The public is cordially invited to attend any or all of these meetings.

What Feeds Sponges?

Fisheries experts and scientists have been unable to ascertain accurately how sponges feed. An ordinary sponge will grow from one to one and one-half inches or more a year. The portion of the sponge with which we are familiar is the skeleton or framework of the sea product as it exists in the briny deep. The slimy, gelatinous substance is decomposed by wind, weather and sunshine and subsequent soaking in sea water cures out any gelatinous materials which still adhere to the sponges.

Labor Starts Its Own College in New York

New York, Nov. 20—Labor will open its own college here today. The plan was advanced by the A. F. of L. in Atlantic City at the 1920 convention and the local school will be under the auspices of the New York Central Trades and Labor Council.

It is not the purpose of the college to give workers a conventional college education, but to school them in public speaking, parliamentary order, economics, labor and law and social forces in American literature, John P. Coughlin, secretary-treasurer of the proposed college, said.

The curriculum was being arranged to aid the worker in union progress and that later, it was planned to add courses which would prove invaluable to him in his trade.

At first there will be no central building for the college. Different halls will be reserved for each of the ten studies. By Jan. 1 it is hoped that all ten courses will have been started.

Each course of ten lectures, including textbook study, will cost the student $2.

BE IN EARNEST:—Whosoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might.—Ecclesiastes 9: 10.Education For Everyone

In no other country on earth is education suitable to the advancement of the pupil offered without distinction of class and without cost to all who apply, as in this country. Americans know no other way, for their schools have been so conducted from beginning; but when Europeans come to us they quickly observe and generally appreciate the advantages which they enjoy for the first time. It often happens that the schools are the deciding factor in determining desirable immigrants to remain when they might otherwise be persuaded to return to the homes of their childhood.

The American system of public education is the crowning glory of the social system which has developed on this continent. Every patriotic American regards it with pride and maintains it with devotion.

With the latent fear that Americans may lose sight of the glorious advantages they have in their public schools, American Education Week is being observed again this week as an annual event.

Though public meetings are being held in every Rush county community where there is a school, this week, school patrons can best get in touch with their schools by visiting them and seeing the work they do.

The Rushville high school faculty had this idea in view when arrangements were made for a general visiting day next Friday, as a part of the Education Week observance. While it is comparatively early in the school year, much good can be gained by visiting the class rooms, observing the character of the work and obtaining an insight into the schools' aims.

Unlimited Self Confidence

The self confidence of many of our politicians is astounding.

The plans they suggest for railroad valuations and rate making causes one to marvel that public men in high official positions should present such views and actually believe that they are suggesting something in the way of a remedy for a question of national importance.

It must take tremendous self confidence on the part of men who never ran a railroad to go into Congress and in a few short months tell the people that the management of the whole transportation system is wrong and that by a simple process of political sleight of hand, it can be corrected. It would seem as if such a man would be worth millions as the manager of any of our great railroads and that their time is being wasted in Congress or on the farm.

How is it that such men never become managers of properties which they know so much about running?

Current CommentJudge Gary Stirs the Wets

(Topeka Capital)

Chairman Gary of the United States Steel Corporation has stirred up stockholders in that concern who are against the Volstead act by inserting in the dividend envelopes a statement of his opinion that prohibition has resulted in "a large decrease in the use of liquor," at least near his plants "a large increase in bank balance of saving deposits, a noteworthy decrease in the number of jails, asylums and hospitals." The wet stockholders object to his broad-casting his private opinion on prohibition at the company expense, and they offer figures to show that a great deal of grape wine was made in Gary, Ind., last year, and the liquor drinking is on the increase.

Judge Gary, anyhow is right in his opinion of nation-wide prohibition under anything like decent enforcement. His statements are merely a repetition of what Chicago bankers almost without exception made last year, as well as bankers and business men in many other large cities, including Henry Ford and Kresge, the 10-cent store head, two very large employers, as is Judge Gary himself. In many localities, especially Detroit and Chicago, reports are that enforcement has slackened, while bootleggers have become more aggressive. This may have altered conditions to some extent, but does not alter the vital facts in this case that prohibition was being remarkably well enforced, proving that it can be and that it had the effects Judge Gary and many other employers testified to, when enforced. A slackening of enforcement would naturally result in the large figures of consumption and smaller figures of saving deposits that the wets gleefully proclaim, which only strengthens Judge Gary's argument that prohibition has good results.

If large quantities of wine are made in thousands of private homes, where it is probably privately consumed, yet such a condition is not to be compared with the organized traffic in liquor and the political power of the liquor business. The true solution of the liquor problem is enforcement of the law by the local, State and federal authority in full co-operation. Judge Gary at least has not weakened on that proposition.

Reform.

Most reform of others begins in compassion and later on gathers to it the spiteful.

How about books for Christmas? Don't give dad a check book, or mother a cook book, or Bill a school book.

A cup of sugar would make a wonderful Christmas present for a neighbor who borrows too much stuff.

Why not give the ice man a Christmas present? Something for scraping mud off his feet would be nice.

Don't forget the milk man. He likes Christmas presents. We suggest a big bucket for watering milk.

There's the plumber. Buy the plumber a Christmas present. What about a million memorandum books.

Remember the barber this Christmas. Give him some liniment for rubbing his tired jaw muscles.

And the butcher, get him a Christmas gift. A few extra bones to put in the steak would tickle him.

Give the bootlegger a Christmas present of a few customers. His old ones are all worn out.

FAIRVIEW IS NOSED OUT BY NOBLESVILLE

Independent Team is Defeated in Close Game by Five Containing Former DePauw Players

LOSE IN LAST THREE MINUTES

Noblesville A. C. basketball team nosed Fairview A. C. out of a victory Saturday night at Fairview by the score of 36 to 26, in the last three minutes of play. The game was the fastest played on the Fairview court this year, and the Noblesville team had three DePauw stars in their lineup which added to their strength. The first half was bitterly contested and ended 18 to 17 with Fairview behind one point.

The game was closely contested during the closing minutes of play, and Fairview was handicapped at this stage of the game on account of Darnell being compelled to leave on fobs.

The line-up and summary:
Noblesville 36 Fairview 26
Mosburg F. Patton
Bills F. Reynolds
Etcherson C. Peters
Young G. Cook
Noble G. Darnell
Field goals, Mosburg, 9; Bills, Etcherson 4; Young, Patton, Reynolds 4; Peters 5; Cook, Foul goals, Mosburg 2; Bills, 4; Peters 3; Darnell Substitutions, Parker for Darnell.

ARLINGTON BOOKS GAME

Expression of a thankful mother, she says: Our son, Le Roy Wolfe, aged six years, was paralyzed from the hips down, and could not walk or use his lower limbs.

His health was poor and the medical doctors did not give him any relief, so we tried J. M. Starr, chiropractor, who gave him chiropractic spinal adjustments.

We could see an improvement from the very first adjustment. He was completely restored to health and regained the use of his limbs, the paralytic condition having entirely left him.

We are very thankful for this health restoring science and are read chiropractic boosters. Signed: Mrs. Erna Wolfe, 1602 West First street, Marion, Ind.

HOW ABOUT THE BASKETBALL TEAM, MR. HSAA?

Mr. Hsaa of Anderson spent the day in this city and reports that the Graham high school is O. K. We always knew that, but we were sorta glad to have him come anyway.

ORDER MORE STRAW FOR THE STABLE

Oliver Mock tells Hittin' 'em to watch that Webb team. He declares that they are getting into shape to take first place in the county, and will clean up on everything in sight before the season ends. Our county stable has plenty of room. Let 'em come.

Oliver tells us also that Webb is going to beat Raleigh here Wednesday night. What do you say about that Raleigh?

REAL NEWS ITEM

Webb charges only two-bits for their games. The girls will furnish the curtain raiser. Don't crowd, folks.

How you gettin' along gang for that Spiedland game Friday night? Don't let 'em trounce you.

Newcastle has a yell leader by the name of Heller. Wonder if he really is?

What's the dope now Hittin' 'em? S'matter, wouldn't the Lions roar enough Friday night? We bet they did a lot of meowing," says Markin' 'em up, who adds also "Yeh, we needed a lot of sympathy Hittin' 'em, last Friday night but watch our smoke from now on, and don't forget November 30."

Say, Markin' 'em up, we can best answer your dope question by what our friend Starr at Frankfort says: THE BULL DOGS FROM CO-LUMBUS ARE BARKING—AND BITING TOO.

Believed in Signs

The excited citizen rushed into the little bank and slapped a $50 bill down upon the cashier's ledge.

"Gimme two cases," he cried.

"What?" asked the astonished cashier. "What? Two cases of what?"

"Anything. I'll drink whatever it is. I saw a sign outside that said 4 percent."—Way-side Tales.

HERE'S A DARK HORSE, GEORGE

"Dear Hittin' 'em: You tell that fellow George down at Vincennes that all of our players who play in a barn are regular war horses, and not colts. You never can tell, most of our presidents were born in log cabins, and maybe a state Champ was born in a barn."

Yours,—Elmer of Glenwood

OUR NAMES IS NAMES CLUB

Guess we can spring a few funny names too. Colman, Lincoln forward who formerly lived in Kokomo, made Lucerne dopey Friday night with six fielders, and Rhine helped bring home the bacon with ten field goals of the 41 to 5 score. Berkshire of Lucerne didn't try to hog much of his team's credit as he only got one fielder. Ford of Lincoln played a rattling good game, too.—From the Press Box, Kokomo.

Cats and Dogs

Rushville says that her Roarin' Lions were going to make the Columbus Bull Dogs look like pups last night, but evidently the Lions ate too much before the game. Perhaps the Newcastle lads will make those Roarin' Lions look like a bunch of tabby cats about November 30.

—Markin' 'em up, Newcastle

THEY NEED PHYSICS—NOT ALGEBRA

From the Press Box, comments as follows on the situation up at Newcastle:
Ho hum, and a couple of hee-haws.

Newcastle's "Team A" got an awful wallop by Hagerstown, 41 to 24, Friday night, while "Team B" beat Middletown 18 to 15. The favorite pastime down at Newcastle this winter will be, we suppose, little problems in higher mathematics like "If Teams A and B equal team C, composed of both teams, how badly would team C have been beaten in each mix of the 28-game schedule." Maybe it won't be that bad though, but we, personally, would be horrified at the prospect of having to dish out bouquets and alibis for two teams.

KNOW THE GAME AS IT IS BEING PLAYED

Question: Who is responsible for the behavior of the spectators?

Answer: The home team. If the game is on a neutral floor, the committee in charge is responsible. Usually if the referee appeals to the sportsmanship of the spectators by a statement from the floor, no further action is necessary. The referee or umpire, may call fouls on the spectators.

INDEPENDENT FIVE FORMED

Moscow in Field Again With a Basketball Team

Moscow is again putting an independent basketball team in the field. Bert Platt, who was elected manager and plays forward on the team, is one of the heaviest scorers in this community. Paul Gosnell will take care of the other forward position, while his brother, Chester Gosnell, will play center.

These two players need no introduction to Rush county fans. Alexander, Reed and Meals will do the guarding. It is believed that this combination will be a consistent winner as they had little trouble in defeating the Waldron independents 28 to 18, a few nights ago.

WILL PLAY GREENSBURG "Y"

Rush County Coaches Team to Face Real Test Thursday

The Rush County coaches basketball team will tackle the Greensburg Y. M. C. A. team in that city Thursday night, and the game will be the first real test for the local team.

The Coaches have won their first two contests, and their last victim was the Morristown independent team Saturday night on the floor in that place, by the score of 45 to 39. The teams fought to a standstill during the first half, but in the last half the coaches managed to pull out ahead with a 15 point margin.

Headlee, Means and Seales formed the scoring machine for the winners and were largely responsible for the victory.

was not opposed to work, because the world's work had to be done, and recalled the apt thing that Roosevelt once said: "Play hard while you play and work only while you work." He asserted that even today some school men only tolerate athletics, but that they were being whipped into line.

"We are trying to utilize high school athletics to increase morale in the student body. Your high school principal will tell you athletic activity will solidify the high school as nothing else will. It is a rallying point, if it is not wrong, but athletics is not wrong. Gambling and cheating tag along, but you can't kick out athletics because of these evils." Evils exist with other good things but are not condemned for that reason, he added. Hero worship was another evil the speaker spoke of.

Billy Sunday's songs are now getting across in Japanese, Chinese, Javanese, Siamese, Burmese—and almost any other "ese" you can think of, from Suez to Siberia.

This performance is being accomplished by Homer Rodehever, Billy Sunday's famous choir leader. Rodehever was here recently with a small group of religious workers, who are on a sort of free-lance, round-the-world missionary tour. They pay their own way. They are working for no particular church or board. They wanted to see the world, so they're just singing and praying around the globe—with especial attention to the Orient.

In Japan, China, Siam, Java, Ceylon, Egypt, and so on, Rodehever has, or will, make phonograph records in the languages of each country, of "Brighten the Corner Where You Are," and all his Billy Sunday favorite Gospel songs.

Also in each country Rodehever is looking for a native with a good voice, a lot of pep, a Christian slant on things—and an ambition to sing like Homer Rodehever. All such material found by Rodehever will be sent to America, trained and returned to be the Billy Sunday choir leaders of their home country.

Great Players of 1923

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Nov. 20—While the national gridiron has been cluttered up with really great players this fall, there have been no outstanding individual stars to compare with Jim Thorpe, Glen Killinger, Bo McMillan or George Gann, a set of players who couldn't be kept off any All-American team.

Backs of quality abound in the east, west and south, but they are of such equal ability that it is almost impossible to pick the three outstanding backs without leaving a half dozen that are almost as good.

No quarterback in the country is better than Pfann, the great Cornell star, or Smythe, the Army brilliant, but there are several who are almost as good. Workman, of Ohio State, must be considered as one of the best. Richeson, of Yale, is a real star and Mike Palm, of Penn State could not be left out of the select group.

ence in the world. The spectacular winning team gets all the spotlight and its stars get the prominence.

Koppisch, the Columbia back, is one of the finest players in the country, but he will not be heard of in the west or south, because Columbia has won very little fame even at home.

Wyeoff, the Georgia Tech back, is one of the finest in the country. No less a celebrity than Knute Rockne, the Notre Dame coach, branded the Tech star as the best back he had seen this season. And Rockne has not only seen many of the best backs, but he has three of the greatest.

In Stuhldreher, Miller, Crowley and Layden, Notre Dame has one of the most versatile and generally fine backfields in the country. Miller is one of the outstanding stars of the season.

Yale has a wonderful array of backfield talent in Richeson, Neals, Neidlinger, Mallory, Stevens, Pond, Bench and Murphy. They are all so good that the coaches can hardly pick a regular quartet. For quality and quantity perhaps the Yale backs are the best in the country.

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Musterole is a counter-irritant that relieves congestion (which is what a cold really is) and stimulates circulation. It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness.

Social Notes

The Shakespeare Club will be entertained tonight at the home of Mrs. A. L. Gary in North Harrison street.

The War Mothers will meet Wednesday afternoon in the assembly room of the court house. All the members are requested to be present.

Mrs. Golda Munden and Walter Ross Parrish, both residents of Carthage, were quietly married at eight o'clock Monday evening at the Friends parsonage, the Rev. Ida T. Parker, performing the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Parrish are well known residents of Carthage, and will make their home there.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dolan entertained Sunday afternoon at their home north of Glenwood. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schunhauer and children and Miss Helen Shields of Indianapolis, Mr. and Mrs. Alf Sexton and daughter Alice, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Dolan and daughter Mildred and Miss Ester Masters of Falmouth.

Mrs. John Frazee entertained with a shower and tea this afternoon at her home in North Harrison street for Mrs. J. M. Amos, who is moving this week into her new home south of the city. Mr. and Mrs. Amos have just completed a beautiful, modern bungalow to replace the house on their farm which was burned last winter.

Mrs. Robert Jordan delightfully entertained last Friday with a dinner party honoring her sister, Mrs. Charles Velt, of Norfolk, Va., at her home near Arlington. Covers were laid for Mrs. Floyd Woods, Mrs. John Nelson, Mrs. George Carwein, Mrs. Elmer Hutchinson, Mrs. Elias Ruckler, Mrs. Elmer Readle and daughter Katherine, Mrs. Charles Velt, Mrs. C. Earl Downey and son Buford Clair.

which will be given Friday and Saturday at the Spink-Arms in Indianapolis and which includes the following colleges, Vassar, Western, Indiana University, Wellesley, Smith, Earlham, Butler and Purdue. Among the assistants in the Butler booth, will be Miss Helen Matlock, of this city, who is a student of that college; and Mrs. Birney Spradling, who is known in this city, will be assistant in the Earlham booth.

Workers for the Butler booth were guests of Mrs. St. Clair Parry at tea today, at her home in Indianapolis. Assisting Mrs. Parry were Mrs. Christine Mauzy and Mrs. Minnie O. Williams. Included among the guests that were present was Helen Matlock, of this city. Miss Matlock will have charge of the Butler booth, together with another girl, on Saturday evening from four o'clock until 8:30 o'clock.

The Band of Workers of the First Presbyterian church will meet in the parlors of the church Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Dick Beale, Miss Laura Meredith and Mrs. Fanny Miller acting as hostesses. Every member is invited to attend this meeting.

Miss Allene Smith entertained a number of young people Sunday evening with a six o'clock dinner at her home, 815 North Sexton street. Those present were Helen Meyers, Lois Hall, Elizabeth Hood, Elizabeth Manning, John Cameron, Floyd Kennedy, Kenneth Tabor, Ralph Stant, Ora Waggoner, Howard Kennedy and Lowell Smith. After the dinner the guests enjoyed music and games.

The Friendship Class of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church will entertain Thursday afternoon with a musical tea at the home of Mrs. Charles Fisher, 235 West Third street, and the members of the Ladies Aid societies of the different churches of the city, have been invited as guests. The hours are from 1:30 to 3:30 p. m. and from 4 p. m. to 6 p. m. and at the party a silver offering will be taken, the proceeds to be applied to the new basement fund.

The Misses Mary Louise Tabor and Helen Julia Murphy were charming little hostesses Saturday afternoon when they entertained the members of their Sunday school class of the First Presbyterian church at the home of the former in East Eleventh street. The members enjoyed the afternoon with contests, games and music. As the closing feature of the delightful party, the hostesses served delicious refreshments.

A very pleasant meeting of the Wi-Hub club was held Monday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. F. McClanahan in North Morgan street, when the club members entertained with a prettily appointed six o'clock dinner party, honoring Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Thomas, of San Juan, Porto Rico, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Payne who are leaving soon for their new home in West Palm Beach, Florida. Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Churchill of Buffalo, N. Y., were also guests at this meeting. Following the serving of the repast, the guests spent an informal social evening together. All the members were present except the two who have been seriously ill, T. M. Green and B. F. Miller, but they are convalescing and are expected to be with the club when it meets again.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas will leave Thursday morning for Washington, D. C. where they will spend ten days visiting with friends before returning to Porto Rico, where Mr. Thomas is head of the Federal Land Bank. They have been making an extended visit with relatives and friends in this county. Mr. and Mrs. Payne will leave Wednesday for their new home in West Palm Beach, Florida. Both Mr. and Mrs. Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. Payne have been active members of the Wi-Hub club for a number of years, and the dinner party was given in their honor, as the club wanted to express their appreciation of their membership, and also as an expression of regret of their departure from the club.

Miss Maggie Gray was hostess Monday afternoon to the members of the Get-To-Gether club at her home in North Main street. The members, who were all present, with the exception of ne, enjoyed the hours over needlework. As closing feature of the meeting, delicious refreshment were served.

Mrs. Demarchus Brown of Indianapolis gave a splendid lecture Monday afternoon on "Her recent Travels in Africa" at the guest day meeting, at the Monday Circle, which was held at the home of Mrs. Ed Chambers in East Seventh street. Mrs. Brown gave a vivid description of Africa, as she saw it on her trip, in her usual pleasing manner, and all those present for the meeting were delighted with her talk. Among the guests present were Mrs. Leroy Churchill of Buffalo, N. Y., Mrs. Daniel Crandel Green of Fort Smith, Ark., Mrs. Ernest Thomas and San Juan, Porto Rico, Mrs. J. E. Walther of Glenwood and Mrs. Ernest Stoner of Greencastle, Ind.

As the climax of the guest day meeting, the hostess and her assistants, Mrs. Roy Waggoner, Mrs. Ione Churchill and Mrs. John P. Frazee, Jr., served the guests with dainty refreshments. The pretty home of Mrs. Chambers was prettily decorated to the party in bouquets and wall pockets of yellow chrysanthemums.

MORE THAN BILLION CHRISTMAS SEALS ON THE MARKET THIS YEAR

A total of $3,842,500 was given in 1922 by citizens of the United States in exchange for Tuberculosis Christmas Seals. This year more than 1 billion Seals are on the market. In the sixteen years in which the annual Tuberculosis Christmas Seal Sale has been carried on throughout the country, more than $25,000,000 has been raised by this unique method, and all of it has been expended in the nation wide educational campaign that has resulted in lowering the death rate from tuberculosis and proving to hundreds of American communities that this dreadful "White Plague" is both preventable and curable.

This year the Tuberculosis Christmas Seals will go on sale in this community late in November, and will be sold until the New Year. People

Fullness at Sides or Front

The skirts of new dresses have a tendency to bunch their fullness either in front or at the sides. The extra material is usually taken up in pleats as in the frocks sketched. The side-pleated model has an interesting waistline treatment. The second has a long tunic which parts in front to show the pleated panel there.

in all sections of the country have had a share in helping to spread information and teaching the public how to prevent and combat the disease.

A recent summary of the actual results accomplished in the United States from the money resulting from Seal purchases shows that the important media used for stamping out the disease have been approximately as follows:

(1) About 650 institutions now make provision for caring for tuberculous patients. Sixteen years ago there were but 100 such institutions. At the present time there are approximately 66,000 beds available in the United States for the care of the tuberculous.

(2) More than 555 clinics and dispensaries have been established where persons may go for periodical, physical examinations and there discover the disease in time for treatment.

(3) At least 12,000 public health nurses, many of them having special training for tuberculosis work, now seek out the disease in the schools and homes and give instructions and help in the ways of health.

(4) Research workers have collected data on the disease of untold value in the fight against the "White Plague".

(5) Statisticians have been kept continually at work compiling necessary information.

(6) An educational campaign, nation wide, has resulted in the distribution of more than 1,000,000 pieces of printed matter, pointing out the road to health for all ages, types and classes of both native and foreign born.

(7) The Modern Health Crusade has been made possible. Through it more than 8,000,000 school children throughout this country and abroad have learned daily health habits.

(8) At least 3,000 open air schools, preventoria, outdoor camps for children, and other establishments have been set up, wherein persons predisposed to tuberculosis may be brought back to normal life.

(9) The Seal money has financed lecturers, speakers, demonstrations and exhibits, motion pictures, health plays and pageants, posters and health stories.

(10) The Seal Sale itself has been one of the great factors in the spreading of the scientific knowledge through which resistance in the health of the body politic has been built up throughout the United States.

The 1923 Christmas Seal in this community is a part of this national state and local movement for better health.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "loggy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.

First Showing Tonight

"If Winter Comes" tells the story of a pair of mismatched couples who revolt, each expressing his or her communal distresses in a different way. It was evident that many of those who attended the picture's premiere showing this afternoon, were familiar with Hutchinson's story. It will be here three days—today, Wednesday and Thursday at the Castle theatre.

As the picture opened, showing vivid scenes of English town life, part of the audience whispered of the striking resemblance it bore toward Hutchinson's description. During the flow of the story, from Mark Sabre's first acknowledgement of the fact that he had made an unwise marriage to Lady Tybar, who had also suffered under a misalliance, the audience was enthusiastically responsive.

"If Winter Comes" is spectacularly dramatic. The cast is unusually able; the players ideally suited to their roles. It is most extraordinary that so difficult a novel to film as Hutchinson's "If Winter Comes" should present such splendid motion picture entertainment.

DOINGS OF THE DUFFS

Princess. It will remain here today and Wednesday. But even the most enthusiastic applause can't compare with the cheering of the crowd that witnessed the filming of the climb in "Safety Last."

Somehow the news got about that the famous comedian was to use the Bank of Italy building at the corner of First and Spring Streets in Los Angeles to film a scene for one of his forthcoming productions. Three hours before the comedian arrived the streets around the tall building were crowded with admirers of the star. When Harold appeared on the scene, he was noisily welcomed, and as the directors and cameramen made their preparations, the crowd settled down, expecting to see the filming of a comic street scene.

They saw, instead one of the most daring stunts ever performed for the camera. As Harold continued his climb, the huge audience showed its appreciation by breathless interest, applauding now and then at some especially reckless performance by the star.

Feature at Mystic Today

There was not a disappointed person among the spectators at the Mystic Theatre last night when the William Fox spectacular melodrama, "The Silent Command," was given its first showing in this city and which is an view again today only. It is a big picture from every point of view, a special feature with every right to the name.

The story is built around an attempt of a band of international spies to blow up the Panama Canal. Captain Richard Decatur of the United States Navy is assigned to work his way into the good graces of the band and learn their plans. The task is an extremely difficult one. It is likewise very risky. His life is endangered on several occasions. The game on both sides is a desperate one. Decatur wins through his quick brain and iron nerve. The spies try in every way to trap him. A beautiful woman is employed to compromise him and is temporarily successful. The officer's wife is made to believe that he is unfaithful. He is drummed out of the service for disloyalty, but is vindicated and all ends happily.

MRS. BUTLER'S
ACHES AND PAINS

Vanished After Using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

W. Philadelphia, Pa. — "When I cleaned house last April I must have overfitted, for after that I had pains and aches all the time and was so discouraged. I could hardly do my own housework, and I could not carry a basket of groceries from the store nor walk even four or five squares without getting terrible pains in my back and abdomen and lower limbs."

I went to visit a friend in Mt. Holly, N. J., and she said, "Mrs. Butler, why don't you take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?" My husband said that if it did her so much good for the same trouble, I should try it. So I have taken it and it is doing me good. Whenever I feel heavy or bad, it puts me right on my feet again. I am able to do my work with pleasure and am getting strong and stout. I still take the Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, and am using Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash."

SOY BEAN STUBBLE FOUND TO BE BEST

on Corn Ground Three Bushels to Acre on Average

ALSO MEANS TO SAVE LABOR

Another Indirect Benefit From Sowing Soy Beans is Found in Volunteers Coming up in Wheat

Eight farmers who grew soy beans last year followed recommendation of Purdue and the county agent and sowed wheat following the soy bean crop. These fields were watched and carefully checked for results. It was found that wheat on soy bean stubble ground out-yielded wheat on corn ground three bushels to the acre on the average, one farmer reporting an increase of 4.9 bushels on measured ground.

These fields demonstrated that wheat follows soy beans to good advantage in the rotation, not only in respect to increased yield, but also as a means of saving labor. In most cases no special preparation of seed bed was given, the wheat being sowed directly in the bean stubble with a large drill. Where any preparation at all was given, it consisted of single disking ahead of the drill.

Another indirect benefit from growing soy beans ahead of wheat was found in the volunteer soy beans that came up in the wheat. The volunteer plants did not interfere with the wheat and after the crop was removed, made considerable growth, affording considerable good pasture in connection with the clover that was sown in the wheat.

Agricultural Classes in Rural Schools Co-Operating in Movement to Improve Corn

FIELD WORK FIRST STEP

The county agent is cooperating with teachers of agriculture in the rural schools in carrying out a detailed study of corn production. The work started early in September with field work in seed selection. Teachers were asked to require each pupil to select and store a minimum of fifty seed ears, according to methods recommended in school.

Complete reports of this work have not been received but incomplete reports show that 169 boys have selected a total of 7,916 ears of seed and have stored in according to approved methods.

The classes are following the seed selection work with exercises in scoring and judging and will take up the study of seed testing in season.
The laboratory and home work is being supplemented with class room work on the various phases of corn production.

wheat crop, turned a hundred head of sheep into the stubble field. The sheep consumed the volunteer beans almost entirely before they began to graze on the fine stand of clover present. Another farmer reports that the only field in which he succeeded in getting a stand of clover in wheat was in wheat shown in soy bean stubble. He is confident that the bean stubble protected the young clover against damage from dry freezing weather conditions in the spring.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 15—Final details of the fifth annual convention of the Indiana Farm Bureau Federation, to be held December 6 and 7 at Indianapolis, have been completed by Perry H. Crane, Executive Secretary of the Federation.
The convention will open at the Claypool on the morning of December 6, with the annual address of the President, William H. Settle. This will be followed by reports of departmental heads, printed copies of which will be distributed among the delegates. In the afternoon of the first day general discussions of matters brought up by county farm bureaus will be on the program. In the evening the annual election of officers will be held, the Indiana Farm Bureau Federation motion picture will be shown and there will be given a program of social and educational features and music.

Walton Peteet, Director of Cooperative Marketing for The American Farm Bureau Federation, will address the convention on the morning of the second day on "The Fun-

REPORT OUTBREAK OF CHOLERA IN INDIANA

Epidemic Has Resulted in Death of Approximately 20,000 Hogs This
Year, According to Report

OF MORE VIRULENT TYPE

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 14—The greatest outbreak of hog cholera since 1921 has been reported from nearly all sections of Indiana, Director Haskins of the hog cholera division of Indiana Livestock Sanitary board, said today.

The epidemic has resulted in death of approximately 20,000 hogs this year, he said.

Besides being widespread, cholera this year is of a more virulent type, which used to be prevalent before serum treatment was known.

The situation is most serious in Bartholomew, Wabash, Huntington, and Wells counties and in some parts of adjacent counties. In other counties, outbreaks are more sporadic.

"Cause of this fall's outbreak is that many farmers, neglecting the immunization of pigs, prefer to gamble on getting hogs to market before cholera appears," he said. "The reason for this is that the immigration process increases in cost as the animals grow."

Reports from stockyards indicate that many hogs are being rushed to markets in hope that they will be slaughtered before disease becomes noticeable, he said. However, many are being sorted out by inspectors at almost total loss to owners.

"In the U. S. 2,500,000 hogs died of cholera, in 1922," Haskins said.
"This cost America about $29,000,- 000.

WINTER COURSE BEGINS JAN. 21

Annual Agriculture And Home Economics Course At Purdue University Has Been Announced

MANY COURSES ARE OFFERED

Under Heading Of General Agriculture All Important Lines Of Farm
Work Will Be Taken Up

The annual eight weeks' winter course in agriculture and home economics will be given at Purdue University again the coming winter, from Jan. 21 to March 14. This announcement was made today at the office of Dean J. H. Skinner, of the College of Agriculture.

"The farmer must be more efficient than ever before to succeed under present conditions. The farm business needs leaders. Winter course men in other years have found this course helpful on these scores," said Dean Skinner.

Courses will be offered in general agriculture, animal husbandry, dairy manufacturing, dairy production, and home economics. Several new features are being taken up under each course including studies in marketing, which is engaging so much attention of agricultural people.

The Department of Farm Management and Agricultural Economics will teach marketing subjects.

Under the heading of general agriculture, all important lines of farm work will be taken up, with men from the various departments doing the teaching. There will be special instruction in farm orchard-ing, poultry raising, soils, crops, livestock, dairying, farm management including marketing of various agricultural products, and several other topics of vital interest to the farm.

The animal husbandry course has been planned especially for men who want to handle farms of their own where most of the crops are fed, or wish to take over management of livestock farms. Including breeding, feeding and management and production will be taken up in this course.

The dairy manufacturing course is outlined especially for men who wish to take positions in creameries ice cream or milk plants, or men already in creameries and wish to get more information to fit them-

ONE GOAL IS TO CUT FOOD COST

Balanced Production Project of Farm Bureau is to Encourage Farmers to Meet Market Demands

FINISH EXHAUSTIVE SURVEY

Blair County, Pa., Farmers Produced Less Products Used in
Their Own Consuming District

Cutting food cost to the consumer and increasing returns to the producer by farmers better meeting the demands of local markets is one of the goals of the balanced production project of the farm bureau.

In Blair County, Pennsylvania, an exhaustive survey has just been completed, showing how near the farmers in that county are meeting local market demands. The survey was carried out through the co-operation of the Department of Agriculture, the Pennsylvania State Bureau of Markets, the Pennsylvania State College and Blair County Farm Bureau. B. H. Critchfield, Farm Market Analyst of the Department of Agriculture, was in charge of the survey.

The analysis in the Pennsylvania county concerned itself with three large points: (1) The consumptive demand; (2) The present production;
(3) The possible production.

It was shown that the Blair County farmers last year produced less than 10 percent of the eggs, less than 12 percent of the potatoes, and less than 22 percent of the dressed poultry used in their own consuming district.

Poultry and egg products, potato growing and dairying were shown

MICHIKOFF SHOWS WELL IN TEST HERE

New Variety of Hard Winter Wheat
Tried Out on Eight Rush County
Farms This Year

800 ACRES SOWN THIS FALL

Michikoff, the new variety of hard winter wheat developed by the Purdue Agricultural Experiment Station, was tested out on eight farms in Rush county and the variety was found to be well adapted to local conditions, especially in the black soils.

On these test fields the yields were found to be from 20 to 35 bushels to the acre and the product was all of excellent quality, testing 60 pounds or better to the bushel.

The wheat made such a good showing that there was a considerable demand for the seed from other farmers for sowing this fall. All nine Rush county farmers who tried it out this year sowed at least one field this fall and two of them sowed their entire crop to Michikoff seed.

According to records in the office, thirty-nine farmers sowed this variety this fall and the total acreage sown fill approximate 800 acres. All will be sowed to seed grown from certified seed.

to be exceedingly profitable enterprises for the county.

Officials of the Blair County Farm Bureau are now making an intensive study of the report and plan to base a five-year program of work for the county farm bureau on the findings.
Every effort is to be made by the county farm bureau to adjust the production on Blair county farms to

INDIANA LEADS AS CANNING STATE

Outranks All Other States In Canning Tomatoes, Baked Beans,
Pumpkin And Hominy

PURDUE COMPILES DATA

Value Of All Products Produced
Last Year Was $22,181,124. The
Output Of 125 Factories

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 13.—Indiana has become one of the leading canning states of the nation during the last few years, according to data compiled by the Horticultural Department of Purdue University. The State leads all others in canning of tomatoes, baked beans, all other beans, pumpkin and hominy, is third on both onions and cucumber pickles, sixth in kraut pack, seventh in corn and eighth in peas. The value of all canned products produced in the state last year was $22,181,124 the output of 125 factories.

Approximately 70,000,000 cans of tomatoes were turned into the nations food channels last year by Indiana canneries, most of the yield of 60,000 acres being devoted to this purpose. Sixty million cans of baked beans, put in Indiana, made the famed Boston product look like a pigmy. Besides this, there were a half million cans of other beans.
About 6,000,000 bushels of pickles, grown in the state, found their way into one of the "57" varieties. Although there were 16,000,000 cans of corn packed in the state last year, six other states topped Indiana on quantity but not quality. The

PROMPT LOCAL TREATMENT IS NEEDED FOR CHICKEN AILMENTS

Chicken pox is a highly contagious poultry disease and occurs most frequently in epidemic form among poultry, pigeons and other birds. It is marked by the eruption of small wart-like scabs on the face, head, comb, and wattles.

In various sections it is known as Fowl Pox, Pigeon Pox, Sore-head, Scabbyhead, and Warts. The name Pox is misleading. This was originally given to the disease on account of the supposed resemblance of the eruptions to those of Small Pox in the human race, but Chicken Pox has no connection whatever with Small Pox. Also there is absolutely no relation between Chicken Pox and children and Chicken Pox and fowls. While not usually fatal in grown fowls, Chicken Pox is particularly serious with young chicks.

Chicken Pox is a disease that makes its appearance suddenly and from no principal cause, but it will spread rapidly from one bird to another. Chickens affected with this disease will inoculate show birds and in this way it may spread into many localities. In the Hawaiian Islands and other tropical countries the scourge is known as Sorehead from the fact that the entire head and face are covered with scabs. The mouth ulcerates and part of the beak is sometimes eaten off.

There are two varieties of Chicken Pox. The dry variety is shown above in the accompanying photograph. This occurs in small patches. The wet variety is shown at the right in the illustration and is distinguished by the ulcers becoming wet, the moisture from them flowing down over the face and into the nostrils and doing great injury.

Although Chicken Pox is known

to be an infectious disease, the principal cause of the infection has not been satisfactorily determined. It is sufficient for the poultryman to know that it is contagious and should be promptly attended to when it occurs. Some scientists believe that rump, Avian (bird) diphtheria, and chicken pox are all kindred diseases.

When Chicken Pox occurs among chickens their heads become swollen and covered with small sores, which frequently grow over the eyelids and causes blindness. This prevents them from eating and the chickens are liable to die of starvation. In fowls the wart-like lumps grow about the eyes, face, beak and throat and on the comb, as shown in the illustration above. One of the dangers of this lies in the fact that the scabs are frequently mistaken for the healing of the sore places and treatment is neglected at a time when it might be stopped.

Whatever future experiments may demonstrate as to the cause of chicken pox, experience has proved that many outbreaks are of such a character that prompt local treatment, resulting in the destruction of the poisonous material (virus) in the scab, appears to check the disease. Knowing chicken pox to be an infectious disease, the course of treatment is clear: (1) The sick fowls should be separated from the well. (2) All fowls sick and well should receive a dose of Epsom salts. (3) The premises should be thoroughly disinfected. (4) Potassium permanganate or carbolic acid should be added to the drinking water in the same proportions as de-touched with a 10 percent solution of argyrol or protargol, and a drop or two put into each eye. If the mouth becomes affected and rumpy patches present themselves, the nose and mouth should be treated for roup by injecting a little hydrogen peroxide into the nostrils. The patches should be removed from the mouth and the mouth swabbed with a solution of equal parts of hydrogen peroxide and water.

Absolute cleanliness, plenty of fresh air and wholesome food will go far toward effecting a cure. If there were no insect vermin and no filth about the premises where poultry is kept there would be so little disease among them as to make the rearing of chicks almost certain.

Although chicken pox and other infectious and contagious diseases are not directly caused by filth, unsanitary conditions greatly aggravate the disease. Treatments commonly recommended are: (1) Wash the affected places with a solution of bluestone (sulphate of copper), one drachm to eight ounces of water. (2) With the dry variety the crusts, or scabs, may be removed and the raw spots treated with creoline. The same preparation is used for the moist variety by dropping creoline from a medicine dropper over the affected parts. (3) The head and face of chicks that are affected may be washed with a sponge in a solution of 20 percent of creoline and ten drops of carbolic acid in one pint of water. This solution may be used for cleansing aggravated cases of sore head, and it has been used even stronger than is recommended. Either creoline or zenoleum may be used for the purpose. Care should be taken to first test the mixture on a fowl that is badly affected so as to learn whether it is painful to them. If so, more water should be added to the solution.

MIGHT HAVE BEEN A SECOND JENNY LIND

Pt. Wayne, Ind., Nov. 20—The story of a woman who might have been a second Jenny Lind was recalled here with the death of Mrs. John Erickson, 73.

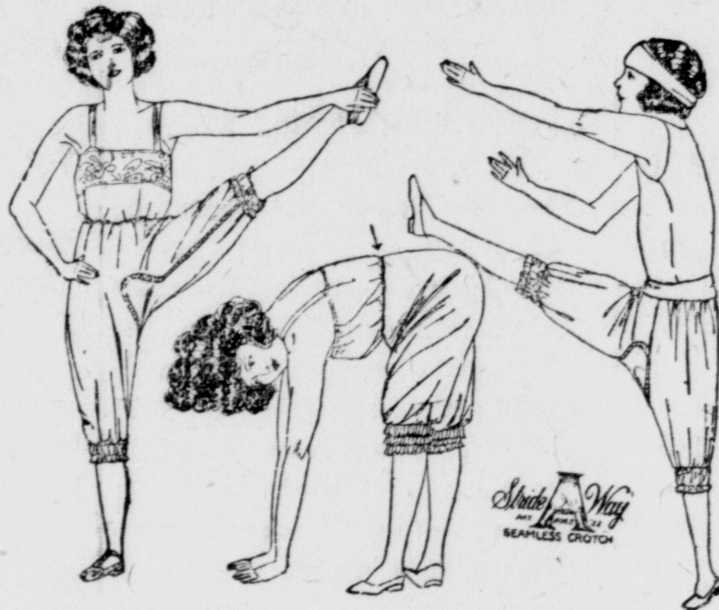

Mrs. Erickson was first cousin of the Swedish nightingale and was at one time the leading soprano of the royal court at Stockholm.

Then she met and married Erickson and put aside her musical career while her cousin, introduced to America by P. T. Barnum, became one of the greatest singers the world has ever known.

Mrs. Erickson seldom sang except at the services of the Swedish Lutheran church, of which she was a member.

A family servant, that is what we are and what we strive to be. We are dealers in "better than ordinary" groceries. We sell only the best in the market of standard goods.

Let us take the responsibility of what you put on the table to tempt the appetites of your family.

We will supply your nourishment in a way that will be cheapest to your purse and most satisfactory to your appetite.

We have just unloaded a car of very fine white potatoes, these are fully matured and suitable for keeping, per bag of 2½ bushels, $2.50. Loyalty Flour, the best every purpose flour we know of, per bag $1.00; per bbl. $7.75.

National Biscuit Co., Flake Butter Crackers, per package of 4½ lbs., 12½c.

Standard nut oleo, colored; we know of several ladies who are serving it to their families who think they are eating the best creamery butter, lb. 42c.

Miller Hart Bacon squares, the same cure as the best Berkshire bacon, per lb. 21c.

Our dried beef and boiled ham are known all over Rush County, we buy only the best grades and slice them as sold, per lb. 60c; special prices in larger quantities for sales and church affairs.

We honestly believe that more SAN MARTO coffee is used in Rush county than of any other brand. It is a splendid value at 36c per lb. We have a Santos Peaberry coffee selling for 30c per lb. that is better than many coffees selling from three to five cents more. New Buckwheat flour, pure old fashioned, per lb. 7½c.

PURDUE JERSEY SETS HIGH MARK

Sayda Recently Completed a Yearly
Record of 13,927.9 Pounds of—
Milk And 722 Lbs. of Fat

COW WAS TEN YEARS OLD

During Record Cow Was Fed Good
Quality Alfalfa Hay, Corn Silage
And Ground Up Grain

The third yearly record of 700 pounds of butterfat or over has been finished within the year in the Purdue University Dairy Herd when the pure bred Jersey, Purdue's Sayda 304643 recently completed a yearly record of 13,927.9 pounds of milk and 722.12 pounds of fat. This cow is one of the good Jerseys in the Purdue herd and while this is the largest production she has ever made she has an average production for the last three years of 11,430.9 pounds of milk and 595 pounds of fat.

A very remarkable thing in connection with this record is the fact that Purdue's Sayda was ten years old at the time of finishing this record, and while many dairy farmers feel that their cows have lost most of their usefulness at this age, it is here demonstrated that good care and good breeding make possible continued high production.

This cow's sire was by the Imported Jap, one of the best Jersey bulls ever brought to America. Purdue's Sayda has three sisters in the Purdue herd all of which are entered in the Register of Merit. These and other cows in the herd are used primarily for instructional and demonstration purposes in the dairy class work.

During this record this cow was fed good quality alfalfa hay, corn silage and a grain ration made up of ground corn, ground oats, bran, linseed oilmeal, soybean oilmeal and cottonseed meal. She also received some soaked beet pulp. She is not a large cow, but had a good appetite and was a consistent producer.

The offspring of such cows as Purdue's Sayda are the kind of stock that will put dairy production on a better paying basis in Indiana.

PLANS MADE FOR GRAIN, HAY SHOW

Highest Achievement of American Farmer Will be on Display at Livestock Exhibition in Chicago

5,000 ENTRIES EXPECTED

Awarding of Grand Champion Corn Cup to Individual Farmer to be Main Feature of Show

The highest achievement of the American farmer will be on display at the International Grain and Hay Show held in connection with the International Livestock Exposition at the Union Stock Yards Chicago, the first week of December.

More than five thousand entries are expected by the college agronomists who have sole charge of the judging of the samples of grain and hay and who have determined the regions which are to contest for the twelve thousand dollars in premiums offered by the Chicago Board of Trade for the best exhibits.

This is the fifth annual Grain and Hay Show and not the least of the interest attached is the awarding of the Grand Champion Corn Cup, a massive silver trophy presented by the Chicago Board of Trade to the individual farmer who exhibits the best ten ears of corn.

So far in the annual competition the middle west corn belt has held the championship, but the contest is open to all sections of the country as well as Canada.

The Junior Corn Clubs, scattered over the country from Maine to Texas, this year are planning great things in their exhibits. The youngsters will compete for a Junior Championship Corn Cup, likewise the gift

PURDUE HORTICULTURAL SHOW WAS AN EDUCATIONAL DISPLAY

By L. E. HOBSON

The Purdue Horticultural Show, held at the Purdue Greenhouses November 2, 3, 4 and 5, proved one of the big events of the year at the University. Coming as it does early in November an exceptionally large display of chrysanthemums and other flowers provides one of the leading features of the show. Large displays of apples and vegetables made the show a well balanced Horticultural exposition which is annually attended by approximately 10,000 persons.

Organized by the Horticultural students of the University, the show is entirely under student management and gives the students a training and experience in planning and managing large affairs.

In addition to magnificent competitive displays of apples and vegetables many feature exhibits of an educational nature were made up and shown by the students. Notable among these were the "Development of the Apple from Embryo," in which the development of the apple from seed to tree bearing luscious fruit was shown by means of artistic drawings. A spreader exhibit showed the effect of different spreaders on the covering power of spray solutions and demonstrated the value of these recent developments in the spray field.

The Indiana Canners' Association provided material for an excellent display of canned products showing the importance of this state as a canning center. Another interesting

A chicken exhibit which provided living proof of the value of vegetables in the diet created unusual interest among the visitors. Six chickens had been fed all they would consume of a ration containing all elements necessary to health except vitamins. Three of these received in addition all the ripe tomatoes they would eat. The chickens receiving no tomatoes, hence no vitamins, were undersized and in poor condition.

Challenges Judge Lindsey

Indianapolis, Ind.—Judge Frank J. Lahr, of the Marion county juvenile court, challenged the statements made by Judge Ben B. Lindsey, of Denver, regarding the alarming number of illegal operations on women and girls.

"Judge Lindsey has a tendency to make startling statements," said the local jurist, in commenting on Judge Lindsey's declaration that there are 15,000 such operations in Denver each year.

"Cities of about the same size have about the same morals," Judge Lahr said. "There is nothing like that in Indianapolis. In all my years on the bench in Indianapolis, I have had very few cases come before me."

BALANCED RATION PAYS DAIRYMEN

Should Feed Each Cow According to Individual Requirements Such as Size And Milk Production

PURDUE FEEDS SIX COWS

For Each Dollar's Worth of Feed Consumed, These Cows Returned $2.15 in Production

By E. A. GANNON
(Dairy Extension Staff, Purdue University)

Since the pasture season is over, the question of what to feed the dairy cow is very important. The statement is often made that it does not pay to feed grain. Perhaps it does not when cows are not dairy cows, and when the quantity of grain fed may be small and of poor quality, which will not increase production.

Economical production requires a balanced ration first, and then feed each cow according to her individual requirements, such as her size, and the quantity and quality of milk produced.

Where no silage is available, a cow will consume two pounds of good dry roughage per 100 pound live weight. If silage is available, then feed one pound of dry roughage and three pounds of silage per 100 pound of live weight.

Where alfalfa or clover hay is available, a grain mixture consisting of 400 pounds ground corn, 200 pounds ground oats or bran, and 100 pounds cotton seed meal, soybean meal or linseed oil meal should be fed.

When timothy and other non-leguminous roughages are fed, the grain mixture should consist of the following: 10 pounds ground corn, 200 pounds ground oats or bran, and 100 pounds linseed oil meal, soybean meal or cottonseed meal.

One pound of either of the grain mixtures, depending on the kind of hay available, should be fed for each 3 pounds of Jersey or Guernsey milk or 4 pounds of Holstein or Ayrshire milk. When silage is not available, a little more grain should be fed.

Six cows that had Cow Testing Association records were fed at the Purdue Experiment Station, and have completed their year's records with an increase of 56.8% in milk, and 41.8 percent in butterfat. The increase in feed cost was $20.54, and the income increase $44.28 over the income of the previous year. For each dollar's worth of feed consumed, these cows returned $2.15 in production. These cows were fed the Purdue ration according to individual production.

The Indiana Canners' Association has taken steps to arouse a keener appreciation within the state for Indiana canned products, starting with a big display of canned vegetables at the recent horticultural show at Purdue. Others will be held over the state.

This dairy production course has been prepared especially for men who wish to operate their own dairies, enter business or take the management of large dairy farms.

The home economics course is especially for farm women who wish more information on various topics of household management.

All the work is given by regular Purdue instructors and the same laboratories as those used by the regular four year students are used for winter course instruction. All the courses are designed for farm men and women who cannot come for the four years work, and given an immediate return.

Similar consumption and production surveys have been planned by the Department of Agriculture for other states. The county farm bureaus in adjoining states to Pennsylvania have shown much interest in the Blair county project and have indicated the desire for a like survey upon which to base their production program.

Following the report of the Department of Agriculture on the Blair

County project, a list of recommendations and suggestions were submitted.

These recommendations pointed out the outstanding needs by commodities, and in addition, urged the necessity of keeping accurate farm accounts as a basis for knowledge farming rather than guess farming.

SCOPE OF M'CRAY HEARING LIMITED

Referee in Bankruptcy Refuses to Permit Queries Relating to Criminal Side of Question

SOLVENCY UNDER INQUIRY

Governor Declares He Gave $125,000 in Notes to Secure Fair Board Loan of $155,000

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 20—Scope of the hearing on the bankruptcy petition against Governor McCray was limited to the questions of the governor's solvency and his solvency by Harry C. Sheridan, referee in bankruptcy today.

When attorneys for the three Fort Wayne banks, seeking to have McCray declared bankrupt, asked McCray what representation he made in securing loans from banks, Sheridan sustained the objection of McCray's attorney to the question.

Sheridan held it was not "pertinent to inquire whether McCray was criminally or morally wrong, or whether he had obtained money by fraudulent or immoral means."

Governor McCray declared he gave $125,000 in notes as security for the board of agriculture loan of $155,000 when he took the stand today to complete his testimony.

The governor asked permission to correct a statement he made in the testimony Friday when he said he had given only about $80,000 security for the loan.

"The notes amounted to $125,000, if I recollect rightly," McCray said today. "I overlooked one batch of notes Friday."

Hume Sammons, of Kentland, took up the examination of the governor in place of W. J. Vesey, who questioned him the first two days.

"After the state board of agriculture loan was paid, what became of the notes," Sammons asked.

"They were turned over to the Aetna Trust company," the governor replied.

McCray submitted in evidence of what he said was a complete list of the notes.

McCray did not have the revised statement of his liabilities ready to present when the hearing opened, although Harry C. Sheridan, referee in bankruptcy, had directed him to turn it in the first thing this morning.

James W. Noel, McCray's attorney, explained that it would be impossible to complete the statement before Wednesday because numerous revisions in the list had been necessary.

CAR DRIVEN BACK ON ITS OWN POWER

CAR NOT BADLY DAMAGED

The Lincoln touring car from Cincinnati, which five young men are said to have stolen Saturday night from that city, and started on a "joy ride" to Indianapolis, and which figured in an accident just east of Arlington, resulting in the death of the driver, Raymond Glaser, was driven back to Cincinnati this morning, where it will be turned over to the owner, Edgar K. Woodrow, 2525 Chatham street.

The machine was not damaged seriously, except a smashed top and a broken windshield, and it was being driven back this morning on its own power.

The authorities are looking for the four companions of the victim, who are wanted by the Cincinnati police. Two of them, James Carrin and Charles Geran, were back in Rushville yesterday afternoon, and gave a statement to a representative of the Daily Republican, but at that time it was not known that they were wanted, or they would have been detained. In leaving they stated that they were going to see the police chief, but they eluded him, according to Orin Blackburn, the chief.

The other two gave their names as Thomas Rafferty and William Nierouter.

BERT M'BRIDE FAVORS PLAN

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 20—Reorganization plans for the Anderson Foundry and Machine company at Anderson, a subsidiary of the R. L. Dollings company of Indiana, are satisfactory, Bert McBride, receiver for the Dollings Company, declared today after a meeting with the stockholders in Anderson yesterday.

Winfield T. Durbin of Anderson, receiver for the Foundry company, is a leader in the reorganization plans. The Anderson plant and four other Dollings subsidiaries in Indiana are now operating successfully, McBride said.

OBSERVANCE OF WEEK IS BEGUN

Rushville High School Announces Visiting Day Friday—City Observance Wednesday Night

The county-wide observance of American Education Week got under way Monday evening with community meetings at Manilla and Center church, at which educational topics were discussed. John A. Titsworth, Rushville attorney, spoke at Center, and Benjamin J. Burris, state superintendent of public instruction, was the speaker at Manilla.

The only county meeting scheduled for today will be held at Glenwood at 8 p. m., at the school building and the address will be delivered by J. H. Scholl, superintendent of the Rushville schools. The slogan for today is "Visit the Schools Today, America First."

Five meetings are to be held Wednesday at Carthage, New Salem, Webb school, Osborne school in Jackson township and the Graham high school building in Rushville. All of them will be held in the evening except the Carthage meeting, which will be at 2:30 p. m., in the community building.

The Rushville high school today announced that it would observe the week by holding a visiting day next Friday, when parents and patrons are urged to visit the class room work.

"The faculty has expressed unanimous regret," says a statement from the Graham high school today, "that there have been no class room visits this school year. It is obvious that mutual benefit can be obtained from co-operation of teachers and parents."

"The teachers feel that the parents should be interested in class work as it is going forward each day. For that reason they have elected to have a visiting day instead of an exhibit of completed work. Early as it is in the school year, much can be gained by an understanding of the work and aims of the year."

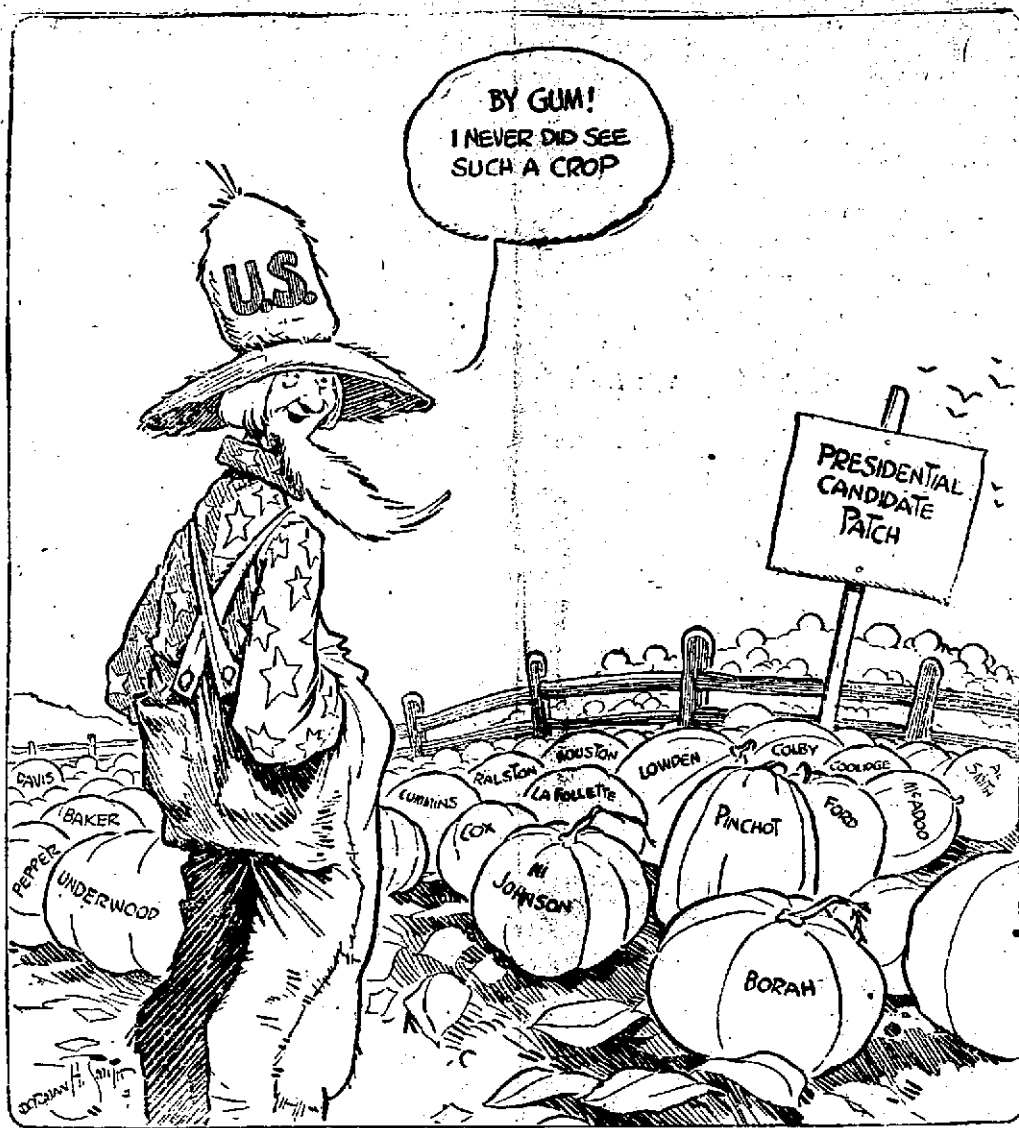

The Manilla meeting Monday night was made very entertaining with a special program by the high school chorus and the girls' glee club. Many phases of Education Week were emphasized and the address by Mr. Burris proved one of the best heard in Manilla for many months.

John H. Kiplinger, Rushville attorney, will speak at the Rushville city observance Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the assembly room of the Graham high school building. A general invitation to attend is extended. Besides emphasizing the need of education for all of the people, he will tell about the schools of Europe, which he had an opportunity to observe while employed by the international reparations commission following the close of the war.

At this meeting a Parent-Teachers' Association for Rushville will be organized. Parent-teacher organizations have been most helpful wherever organized and carried on according to the best plans. What this organization desires is the enlistment of teachers and parents in interests common to both through the medium of the P. T. A. meetings. These meetings offer the opportunity for parent and teacher to know each other, not

All Right if Properly Handled, Secretary I. S. H. A. A. Tells Rotary Club Today Noon

Arthur L. Trester, permanent secretary of the Indiana High School Athletic association, speaking before the Rotary club today noon, asserted that he believed in scholarship as thoroughly as any school man, but that "we have neglected moral and physical education."

"We have been using athletic activities to make men and women," he asserted. "I'll admit that we are not handling all of them. But we are going to try and interest you in a program that will carry physical training to every pupil of the public schools."

His address to the Rotary club was a part of the American Education Week program that has been arranged for this week. Mr. Trester also spoke to the high school this morning about athletics in the high school and made his customary urgent plea that they be kept clean.

George H. Davis, general manager of the Rushville Co-operative Telephone company, was introduced as a new member of the club.

As guests of the club today, E. B. Thomas of San Juan, Porto Rico; Ralph Payne of West Palm Beach, Florida; Donald McIntosh of Indianapolis; William Pell and Mr. Williams of Shelbyville, and Fred Bills, of Lewisville, were present.

Mr. Trester praised the school teacher for his unselfish devotion to his work, pointing out that most teachers did make a sacrifice in continuing in the profession. The burden of his address, however, was on athletics.

"Athletics is all right if properly handled," Mr. Trester asserted. "Athletic competition will always exist. The person who starts out to eliminate it is in for a hard job. It is perfectly natural that boys and girls should compete. They have a right to."

"School men came into this thing too late. Boys used to have to run off from school to play games. School men first started in to crush it, holding it was an evil. They thought play was no part of a boy or girl, but they were wrong. The sad

Manilla Has Best Consolidated School Average And Richland is First in Two Room Schools

The average attendance in the schools of Rush county for the month of October was 98.6, according to the figures compiled by B. D. Farthing, county school superintendent, and with the Gary, one room building in Posey township, holding the lead for the percent of attendance with a perfect score of 100 percent for the ten pupils enrolled.

Manilla, with 98.3 percent, led the consolidated schools and Richland with 97.7 percent led the two room buildings.

The following table for the consolidated schools is self explanatory.

ON A BUSY CORNER

Dayton, Ohio, Nov. 20—An armed man walked into the east end branch of the Dayton Savings and Trust bank here today, forced Charles McMullen, cashier to scoop $5,000 or more in currency into a bag, walked out with the loot and disappeared. Robbery occurred at a busy corner where scores of people were passing.

Crowds Seek Life of Man Accused of Slaying Caldwell, O., Sheriff

Caldwell, Ohio, Nov. 20—Crowds of excited citizens milling about the jail here threatened the safety of an alleged run runner held as a suspect in the slaying early today of Charles Moore, 51, Noble county sheriff.

The suspect was captured by a posse near here. Sheriff Moore was killed when he attempted to arrest two men accused by citizens of boisterous conduct. A second suspect in the slaying is held in jail at Drysville.

Shouts of "lynch him" answered attempts of city authorities to pacify the crowds.

Two Suits of Peoples Bank and Loan and Trust Co. Against Fores Settled And Dismissed

A jury today was hearing the case of Marion Boes and Catherine Boes against Robert H. Parker, in the circuit court, and it was stated this afternoon that the evidence would not be completed today, which would cause a postponement in the case of the State against John Hasty, scheduled to start in the morning.

The suit being heard today involves a contract between landlord and tenant, and several witnesses were used. The testimony was lengthy for the most part, as the witnesses testified regarding the farm agreement between the parties.

Two important law suits were dismissed this afternoon in court, one being filed recently by the Peoples National bank against Jonathan F. Fore and Claude F. Fore, a suit to foreclose a mortgage, and for the appointment of a receiver, in which the plaintiffs had demanded $13,500 judgment.

The other complaint dismissed was filed by the People's Loan and Trust Company, against the same defendants and for which the demand was for $12,000 judgment on a note that was alleged to be past due.

It is understood that the banking institutions adjusted a settlement, and the suits were ordered dismissed.

More than sixty witnesses were being summoned today by deputy sheriff Ed Spradling for the case of the State against John Hasty, who is charged with conspiracy to commit a felony, and which was set for Wednesday.

On account of the case today overlapping, it will be necessary for the witnesses to be notified tonight that they will not be used, and the case will have to be reset for a hearing later on.

Hasty, and three others are charged with stealing chickens, after entering into a conspiracy with each other, and the state elected to try John Hasty first. The other three defendants are his two sons and a son-in-law.

REICHSTAG IS UNDER GUARD

Attempt To Take Chancellor Stresemann's Life Feared In Berlin

Berlin, Nov. 20—Extra police guarded the Reichstag when it opened today in fear of an attempt to assassinate Chancellor Stresemann. President Lobe revealed to the United Press.

He said it was feared someone might fire at the chancellor as the assassins of the late Herr Rathenau did in the chamber.

President Ebert is prepared to empower Chancellor Stresemann to dissolve the reichstag if a vote of "no confidence" is passed against him in the session beginning today, according to an unconfirmed report here today.

If true this would give the chancellor the whip hand in meeting the opposition to policies he considers vital, it was pointed out.

Havens, Graham Annex and Washington School Children Have Been Examined by Local Board

The work of making the physical examination of the city school children has been completed in three more schools, according to a report made today, which includes the schools of the Havens building, the Graham Annex and the Washington school.

The Jackson school report was finished several weeks ago, and the result was announced.

Glandular trouble seems to be the prevailing ailment with the school children, while nose and throat troubles are prominent agencies noticed by the examining board.

Defective teeth also is listed frequently as a defect among the children, and many are listed as being undernourished. A few from each building were passed as being without a defect noticeable, and their names have been placed on the files as being in excellent health.

The report of the pupils at the Havens building is as follows: defects, nose 34; throat 89; glands 109; eeth 49; lungs 1; heart 4; eyes 23; ears 8; general appearance 15; undernourished 22; skin 5.

Those who were listed as having no defects from the Havens building were, Anna Ervin, Dolores Colyer, Eugene Pea, Lavern Litter, Carry Long, Marie McCarty, Gilbert Dickson, Edward Bush, Golda Borders, Elvan Beach, Emsley Gilson, Lillian Shepler and Ruth Trennepohl.

The defects reported among the children examined at the Graham Annex building, are as follows: nose 26, throat 96, glands 124; ears 8; teeth 43; nutrition 19, heart 5.

Those listed as having no defects were: Margaret Hall, James Green, Stuart Bebout, Jane Morgan, Alice McManus, Evalyn Harton, Joanne Harrold, Viola Perkins, Kathryn Bussard, Martha Williams, Jane Griesser, Charles Davis, Virginia Bussard, Deloris Thompson, Larue Meal, Hal Green, Sarah Williamson, Frances

COOKING SCHOOL TO BE HELD HERE AGAIN

Scheduled For Princess Theatre by Daily Republican, Co-Operation With Local Merchants

Another Daily Republican cooking school, similar to the one held here eighteen months ago, was announced today, and the news was greeted with delight by a number of Rushville women who heard of it in advance of the public announcement.

The school, as in the other instance, will be given in co-operation with the management of the Princess theatre and local merchants, at the Princess, and will take place January 8, 9, 10 and 11, 1934. The dates are being announced for in advance so that insofar as possible, conflicts with other events may be avoided so that all of the women of the community will have an opportunity to attend.

The school will be in charge of Mrs. Margaret E. Brown and Miss Johnson, both of whom were at the previous school and both of whom have given demonstrations at the Rushville high school. Mrs. Brown has also given domestic science demonstrations at local grocery stores. Since conducting the cooking school, here, Mrs. Brown has taught domestic science for a year, but returned to this work recently.

While conferring with Rushville women Monday regarding the cooking school, she gave some of her personally tried recipes for the new Methodist church cook book that will soon be issued.

Why Druggists Recommend Swamp-Root

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney liver and bladder medicine. It is a physicians prescription. Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do. Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends. Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once. However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.

Rush County Has 21 Students In Indiana University This Year

Thirteen Young People From Rushville Alone Registered at Bloomington, First Tabulated Figures on Enrollment for Fall Semester Show

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 20—Rushville and Rush county are contributing as usual to the heavy enrollment at Indiana university this year. Tabulated figures on the enrollment for the fall semester show that Rushville has thirteen students at the state university while the number for Rush county is twenty-one.

The largest increase is in the college of arts and sciences where 317 more students are enrolled this year than last year. Of the professional schools, commerce is proving most popular with an increase of 200 students. The total of commerce and pre-commerce students is nearly 900 this year, as compared with about 700 for last year.

More than 700 courses are being conducted in the six schools and thirty odd departments of the university by a faculty numbering 206.

In spite of the tremendous increase in enrollment at Indiana university class room conditions are less crowded than usual this year owing to the fact all rooms in the new commerce building have been completed and are now being used. Overcrowding has been further relieved through the action of the faculty in requiring that a large number of classes be held in the afternoon.

Rushville: Maurice G. Brickler, Janet Dean, Harold John Tinsworth, Florence Corinne Fleehart, Leona Frances Fletcher, Margaret L. Herkless, Maude Muller Jones, Wm. Leonardus Moore, Lillian E. Mullins, William G. Sparks, Max B. VanOstol, Mary Juanita Wilson, Blanche Young (nurses training school Indianapolis), Carthage Lawrence B. Carter, Glenwood Helen Irene Reed, Knightstown: Stella Lucille Ales, Mary Lillian Cubel, Daniel West Holmes.

Manilla: Clyde Albert Baker.

Mays: Milo M. Aiken, Clement Lowell Poston.

GOOD BUSINESS YEAR FORECASTED

Good Volume of Work in Project That Has Been Delayed During Past Year By Excessive Prices

SLOW STEEL PRODUCTION

General Opinion of Workers is That Turning Point is Near And Future Holds Brighter Prospects

By BRUCE SHORT
President Engineering Sales Corporation

(Written for United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 20—Even in the face of slowing steel production during the last week, all indications thus far point to a good volume of general business in 1924.

There is a good volume of work in project that has been delayed during the past year by excessive prices, the housing shortage has not been met, the farmer is gradually getting in the mark again, and there is no reserve stock of steel and other necessities with the exception of wheat.

If these conditions do not point to a fairly prosperous year, they surely do not point to a depression. Another important factor is seen in the Calumet steel region of Indiana, indicating the trend that business is expected to take next year.

The inland steel company plant at Indiana Harbor has discontinued its third shift on large mills, thereby throwing 1,000 men out of employment but work has not been discontinued on its new $1,000,000 plant.

The discontinuance of the third shift is only a temporary condition and fails to indicate any significant condition except a momentary lull in business, but the continuance of work on the new plant shows that the company has faith in the outlook for the next year and for the future.

The general opinion of steel workers is that the turning point is near and the future holds brighter prospects.

Difference between shipments and booking of new orders has had little effect on prices. The status is the same as for October in that buyers are holding out for concessions and producers see advantage in price cutting.

Large sheet and tin plate companies have reaffirmed their quotations for the first quarter of 1924. This market had been stimulated by Japanese government purchases to overcome effect of the tidal wave and fires in Japan.

A Four-Year-Old's Revenge.

Little Jack had been so persistently naughty that mother just had to give him a good spanking and all that afternoon a desire for revenge rankled in his little breast. At length bedtime came and, kneeling down, he said his evening prayer, asking a blessing upon all the members of the family individually—except one. Then, rising he turned to his mother with a triumphant look, saying as he climbed into bed, "I s'pose you noticed you wasn't in it."—Boston Transcript.

Realize what Kellogg's Bran means to your family's health?

Eaten regularly each day, Kellogg's Bran will permanently relieve constipation; it will free you from dangerous toxic poisons that lead to 90% of all human illness; it will remove the cause and sweeten a bad breath; it will clear a pimply complexion through its work on the bowels. In fact, Kellogg's Bran, through its natural action as a bulk, indigestible agent, will tone-up the whole system!

If you know exactly what constipation means from a medical viewpoint you would lose no time eating Kellogg's Bran yourself and serving it daily to your family. And, Kellogg's Bran is actually delicious, its nut-like flavor adding greatly to the enjoyment of eating cereals. Eat at least two table-spoonfuls each day; in chronic cases, with each meal.

There are many attractive ways to serve Kellogg's Bran. Eat it in winter with hot milk as a cereal. Or, mix it with cereals before serving. Many housewives cook it with cereals, in each case adding two tablespoonfuls for each person. You will also enjoy the nut-like flavor of Kellogg's Bran when it has been sprinkled over hot or cold cereals.

You have missed some of the joys of life if you have not eaten raisin bread, muffins, griddle-cakes, etc., made with Kellogg's Bran. Recipes are printed on each box.

Don't delay your fight against constipation; don't lose a minute in the great battle against illness! You can buy Kellogg's Bran from all grocers and you can have it served in individual packages at first-class hotels, restaurants and clubs.

GIVES RESUME OF BAPTIST HISTORY

The Rev. G. C. Chandler of Indianapolis Speaks at Opening of Missionary Chautauqua

ELWOOD MAN TALKS TONIGHT

Church's Growth And Contribution to Ideal of Democracy is Outlined by Minister

"Baptist History and Baptist Principles" was the subject of the Rev. G. C. Chandler of Indianapolis who opened the Missionary Chautauqua at the First Baptist church Monday night.

Mr. Chandler gave a brief resume of Baptist history, showing the church's growth and contribution especially to the ideal of democracy and religious freedom.

Turning to the question of Baptist principles, Mr. Chandler said in part: "First, Baptists stand for the bible. It is their final court of appeal in all matters of faith and practice. It does not need the creeds nor the church councils to interpret and determine its message."

"Second, Baptists stand for regeneration, or 'the birth from above', as a basis for church membership."

"Third, Baptists stand for believer's baptism only, the immersion of the believer in obedience to Christ's command, as a symbol of the death to the old life and the resurrection to the new."

"Fourth, Baptists stand for the separation of church and state, and for the largest measure of civil and religious liberty."

The second address will be given tonight on "Stewardship", by the Rev. Harry O'Dell of Elwood. The public is cordially invited to attend any or all of these meetings.

What Feeds Sponges?

Fisheries experts and scientists have been unable to ascertain accurately how sponges feed. An ordinary sponge will grow from one to one and one-half inches or more a year. The portion of the sponge with which we are familiar is the skeleton or framework of the sea product as it exists in the briny deep. The slimy, gelatinous substance is decomposed by wind, weather and sunshine and subsequent soaking in sea water cures out any gelatinous materials which still adhere to the sponges.

Labor Starts Its Own College in New York

New York, Nov. 20—Labor will open its own college here today. The plan was advanced by the A. F. of L. in Atlantic City at the 1920 convention and the local school will be under the auspices of the New York Central Trades and Labor Council.

It is not the purpose of the college to give workers a conventional college education, but to school them in public speaking, parliamentary order, economics, labor and law and social forces in American literature, John P. Coughlin, secretary-treasurer of the proposed college, said.

The curriculum was being arranged to aid the worker in union progress and that later, it was planned to add courses which would prove invaluable to him in his trade.

At first there will be no central building for the college. Different halls will be reserved for each of the ten studies. By Jan. 1 it is hoped that all ten courses will have been started. Each course of ten lectures, including textbook study, will cost the student $2.

Education For Everyone

In no other country on earth is education suitable to the advancement of the pupil offered without distinction of class and without cost to all who apply, as in this country.
Americans know no other way, for their schools have been so conducted from beginning; but when Europeans come to us they quickly observe and generally appreciate the advantages which they enjoy for the first time.
It often happens that the schools are the deciding factor in determining desirable immigrants to remain when they might otherwise be persuaded to return to the homes of their childhood.

The American system of public education is the crowning glory of the social system which has developed on this continent. Every patriotic American regards it with pride and maintains it with devotion.

With the latent fear that Americans may lose sight of the glorious advantages they have in their public schools, American Education Week is being observed again this week as an annual event.

Though public meetings are being held in every Rush county community where there is a school, this week, school patrons can best get in touch with their schools by visiting them and seeing the work they do.

The Rushville high school faculty had this idea in view when arrangements were made for a general visiting day next Friday, as a part of the Education Week observance. While it is comparatively early in the school year, much good can be gained by visiting the class rooms, observing the character of the work and obtaining an insight into the schools aims.

Unlimited Self Confidence

The self confidence of many of our politicians is astounding.

The plans they suggest for railroad valuations and rate making causes one to marvel that public men in high official positions should present such views and actually believe that they are suggesting something in the way of a remedy for a question of national importance.

It must take tremendous self confidence on the part of men who never ran a railroad to go into Congress and in a few short months tell the people that the management of the whole transportation system is wrong and that by a simple process of political sleight of hand, it can be corrected. It would seem as if such a man would be worth millions as the manager of any of our great railroads and that their time is being wasted in Congress or on the farm.

How is it that such men never become managers of properties which they know so much about running?

Current Comment

Judge Gary Stirs the Wets
(Topeka Capital)

Chairman Gary of the United States Steel Corporation has stirred up stockholders in that concern who are against the Volstead act by in-serting in the dividend envelopes a statement of his opinion that prohibition has resulted in "a large decrease in the use of liquor," at least near his plants "a large increase in bank balance of saving deposits, a noteworthy decrease in the number of jails, asylums and hospitals." The wet stockholders object to his broadcasting his private opinion on probi-tion at the company expense, and they offer figures to show that a great deal of grape wine was made in Gary, Ind., last year, and the liquor drinking is on the increase.

Judge Gary, anyhow is right in his opinion of nation-wide prohibition under anything like decent enforcement. His statements are merely a repetition of what Chicago bankers almost without exception made last year, as well as bankers and business men in many other large cities, including Henry Ford and Kresge, the 10-cent store head, two very large employers, as is Judge Gary himself.

In many localities, especially Detroit and Chicago, reports are that enforcement has slackened, while bootleggers have become more aggressive. This may have altered conditions to some extent, but does not alter the vital facts in this case that prohibition was being remarkably well enforced, proving that it can be and that it had the effects Judge Gary and many other employers testified to, when enforced. A slackening of enforcement would naturally result in the large figures of consumption and smaller figures of saving deposits that the wets gleefully proclaim, which only strengthens Judge Gary's argument that prohibition has good results.

If large quantities of wine are made in thousands of private homes, where it is probably privately consumed, yet such a condition is not to be compared with the organized traffic in liquor and the political power of the liquor business. The true solution of the liquor problem is enforcement of the law by the local, State and federal authority in full co-operation. Judge Gary at least has not weakened on that proposition.

Reform.

Most reform of others begins in compassion and later on gathers to it the spiteful.

How about books for Christmas?
Don't give dad a check book, or mother a cook book, or Bill a school

A cup of sugar would make a wonderful Christmas present for a neighbor who borrows too much stuff.

Why not give the ice man a Christmas present? Something for scraping mud off his feet would be nice.

Don't forget the milk man. He likes Christmas presents. We suggest a big bucket for watering milk.

There's the plumber. Buy the plumber a Christmas present. What about a million memorandum books.

Remember the barber this Christmas. Give him some liniment for rubbing his tired jaw muscles.

A thousand dollars makes a fine gift, but is rather expensive.

And the butcher, get him a Christmas gift. A few extra bones to put in the steak would tickle him.

Give the bootlegger a Christmas present of a few customers. His old ones are all worn out.

The time has come to shop early and avoid the shoppers.

Even the gold fish should have their Christmas. Read them all about what a hard time other fish have.

Do you know a man who smokes him.

Get something for the home this

FAIRVIEW IS NOSED OUT BY NOBLESVILLE

Independent Team is Defeated in Close Game by Five Containing Former DePauw Players

LOSE IN LAST THREE MINUTES

Noblesville A. C. basketball team nosed Fairview A. C. out of a victory Saturday night at Fairview by the score of 36 to 26, in the last three minutes of play. The game was the fastest played on the Fairview court this year, and the Noblesville team had three DePauw stars in their line-up which added to their strength. The first half was bitterly contested and ended 18 to 17 with Fairview behind one point.

The game was closely contested during the closing minutes of play, and Fairview was handicapped at this stage of the game on account of Darnell being compelled to leave on furl.

The line-up and summary:
Noblesville 36 Fairview 26
Mosburg F. Patton
Bills F. Reynolds
Etcherson C. Peters
Young G. Cook
Noble G. Darnell
Field goals, Mosburg, 9, Bills, Etcherson 4, Young, Patton, Reynolds 1, Peters 5, Cook, Foul goals, Mosburg 2, Bills 4, Peters 3, Darnell Substitutions, Parker for Darnell.

ARLINGTON BOOKS GAME

Due to the demand from many football followers of the Arlington Athletic Club, after their good showing in last Sunday's football game, another game will be played Sunday, November 25, in addition to the Thanksgiving game, and the first Belmont team of Indianapolis was booked for a game this morning.

PARALYZED IN LOWER LIMBS

LE ROY WOLFE
Marion, Ind.
After All Other Methods Failed
Chiropractic Adjustments Brought Life to Paralyzed Limbs

Expression of a thankful mother, she says: Our son, Le Roy Wolfe, aged six years, was paralyzed from the hips down, and could not walk or use his lower limbs.

His health was poor and the medical doctors did not give him any relief, so we tried J. M. Starr, chiropractor who gave him chiropractic spinal adjustments.

We could see an improvement from the very first adjustment. He was completely restored to health and regained the use of his limbs, the paralytic condition having entirely left him.

We are very thankful for this health restoring science and are read chiropractic boosters. Signed: Mrs. Erna Wolfe, 1602 West First Street, Marion, Ind.

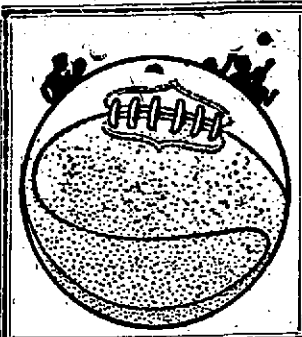

No condition is utterly hopeless, and Chiropractic has proved effective where many other methods have failed.

HITTIN' 'EM AND MISSIN' 'EM

HOW ABOUT THE BASKETBALL TEAM, MR. IHSAA?

Mr. Ihsaa of Anderson spent the day in this city and reports that the Graham high school is O. K. We always knew that, but we were sorta glad to have him come anyway.

ORDER MORE STRAW FOR THE STABLE

Oliver Mock tells Hittin' 'em to watch that Webb team. He declares that they are getting into shape to take first place in the county, and will clean up on everything in sight before the season ends. Our county stable has plenty of room. Let 'em come.

Oliver tells us also that Webb is going to beat Raleigh here Wednesday night. What do you say about that Raleigh?

REAL NEWS ITEM

Webb charges only two-bits for their games. The girls will furnish the curtain raiser. Don't crowd, folks.

How you gettin' along gang for that Spiceland game Friday night? Don't let 'em trounce you.

Newcastle has a yell leader by the name of Heller. Wonder if he really is?

What's the dope now Hittin' 'em? Smarter, wouldn't the Lions roar enough Friday night? We bet they did a lot of meowing? Says Markin' 'em up, who adds also "Yeh, we needed a lot of sympathy Hittin' 'em, last Friday night but watch our smoke from now on, and don't forget November 30."

Say, Markin' 'em up, we can best answer your dose question by what our friend Starr at Frankfort says: "THE BULL DOGS FROM COLEBUS ARE BARKING—AND BITING TOO."

Believed in Signs
The excited citizen rushed into the little bank and slapped a $50 bill down upon the cashier's ledge. "Gimme two cases," he cried. "What?" asked the astonished cashier. "What? Two cases of what?" "Anything. I'll drink whatever it is. I saw a sign outside that said 4 percent."—Way-side Tales.

HERE'S A DARK HORSE, GEORGE

"Dear Hittin' 'em: You tell that fellow George down at Vincennes that all of our players who play in a barn are regular war horses, and not colts. You never can tell, most of our presidents were born in log cabins, and maybe a state Champ was born in a barn."

Yours,—Elmer of Glenwood

OUR NAMES IS NAMES CLUB

Guess we can spring a few funny names too. Cokain, Lincoln forward who formerly lived in Kokomo, made Lucerne dorey Friday night with six fielders, and Rhine helped bring home the bacon with ten field goals of the 41 to 5 score. Berkshire of Lucerne didn't try to hog much of his team's credit as he only got one fielder. Ford of Lincoln played a rattling good game, too.—From the Press Box, Kokomo.

Cats and Dogs
Rushville says that her Roarin' Lions were going to make the Columbus Ball Dogs look like pups last night, but evidently the Lions ate too much before the game. Perhaps the Newcastle lads will make those Roarin' Lions look like a bunch of tabby cats about November 30.

—Markin' 'em up, Newcastle

THEY NEED PHYSICS—NOT ALGEBRA

From the Press Box, comments as follows on the situation up at Newcastle:
Ho hum, and a couple of hee-haws

Newcastle's "Team A" got an awful walloping by Hagerstown, 41 to 24, Friday night, while "Team B" beat Middletown 18 to 15. The favorite pastime down at Newcastle this winter will be, we suppose, little problems in higher mathematics like "If Teams A and B equal team C, composed of both teams, how badly would team C have been beaten in each mix of the 28-game schedule." Maybe it won't be that bad though, but we, personally, would be horrified at the prospect of having to dish out bouquets and alibis for two teams.

KNOW THE GAME AS IT IS BEING PLAYED

Question: Who is responsible for the behavior of the spectators?

Answer: The home team. If the game is on a neutral floor, the committee in charge is responsible. Usually if the referee appeals to the sportsmanship of the spectators by a statement from the floor, no further action is necessary. The referee or umpire, may call fouls on the spectators.

Moscow in Field Again With a Basketball Team

Moscow is again putting an independent basketball team in the field. Bert Platt, who was elected manager and plays forward on the team, is one of the heaviest scorers in this community. Paul Gosnell will take care of the other forward position, while his brother, Chester Gosnell, will play center.

These two players need no introduction to Rush county fans. Alexander, Reed and Meals will do the guarding. It is believed that this combination will be a consistent winner as they had little trouble in defeating the Waldron independents 28 to 18, a few nights ago.

WILL PLAY GREENSBURG "Y"

Rush County Coaches Team to Face Real Test Thursday

The Rush County coaches basketball team will tackle the Greensburg Y. M. C. A. team in that city Thursday night, and the game will be the first real test for the local team.

The Coaches have won their first two contests, and their last victim was the Morristown independent team Saturday night on the floor in that place, by the score of 45 to 30. The teams fought to a standstill during the first half, but in the last half the coaches managed to pull out ahead with a 15 point margin.

Headlee, Means and Seales formed the scoring machine for the winners and were largely responsible for the victory.

In the role of parent and teacher, but as citizens—each with his or her own individuality and personality. Another opportunity of those meetings is that of getting the teacher's viewpoint on certain classroom practices which explains many interesting methods in teaching. Parents can help much by helping develop such classroom habits as promptness, obedience, honesty, etc. Discussions with the idea of doing the most possible to increase the efficiency of the great work of the public schools should enlist the co-operation of every parent and citizen, and the patrons are urgently invited to attend the meeting tomorrow night.

was not opposed to work, because the world's work had to be done, and recalled the apt thing that Roosevelt once said: "Play hard while you play and work only while you work." He asserted that even today some school men only tolerate athletics, but that they were being whipped into line.

"We are trying to utilize high school athletics to increase morale in the student body. Your high school principal will tell you athletic activity will solidify the high school as nothing else will. It is a rallying point, if it is not wrong, but athletics is not wrong. Gambling and cheating tag along, but you can't kick out athletics because of these evils." Evils exist with other good things but are not condemned for that reason, he added. Hero worship was another evil the speaker spoke of.

RODEKEVER GOING ROUND THE WORLD

Billy Sunday's Choir Leader and Religious Workers Singing And Preaching Around The Globe

Singer Is Looking For A Native With Good Voice And An Ambition To Sing Like Rodehever.

By CLARENCE DUBOSE
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Tokyo (By Mail to United Press) Billy Sunday's songs are now getting across in Japanese, Chinese, Javanese, Siamese, Burmese—and almost any other "ese" you can think of, from Suez to Siberia.

This performance is being accomplished by Homer Rodehever, Billy Sunday's famous choir leader. Rodehever was here recently with a small group of religious workers, who are on a sort of free-lance, round-the-world missionary tour. They pay their own way. They are working for no particular church or board. They're just singing and praying around the globe—with especial attention to the Orient.

In Japan, China, Siam, Java, Ceylon, Egypt, and so on, Rodehever has, or will, make phonograph records in the languages of each country, of "Brighten the Corner Where You Are," and all his Billy Sunday favorite Gospel songs. Also in each country Rodehever is looking for a native with a good voice, a lot of pep, a Christian slant on things—and an ambition to sing like Homer Rodehever. All such material found by Rodehever will be sent to America, trained and returned to be the Billy Sunday choir leaders of their home country.

Great Players of 1923

(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Nov. 20—While the national gridiron has been cluttered up with really great players this fall, there have been no outstanding individual stars to compare with Jim Thorpe, Glen Kilgus, Bo McMillan or George Owen, a set of players who couldn't be kept off any All-American team.

Backs of quality abound in the east, west and south, but they are of such equal ability that it is almost impossible to pick the three outstanding backs without leaving a half dozen that are almost as good.

No quarterback in the country is better than Phann, the great Cornell star, or Smythe, the Army brilliant, but there are several who are almost as good. Workman, of Ohio State, must be considered as one of the best. Richeson, of Yale, is a real star and Mike Palm, of Penn State could not be left out of the select group.

Surroundings make all the difference in the world. The spectacular winning team gets all the spotlight and its stars get the prominence.

Koppisch, the Columbia back, is one of the finest players in the country, but he will not be heard of in the west or south, because Columbia has won very little fame even at home.

Wycoff, the Georgia Tech back, is one of the finest in the country. No less a celebrity than Knute Rockne, the Notre Dame coach, branded the Tech star as the best back he had seen this season. And Rockne has not only seen many of the best backs, but he has three of the greatest.

In Stuhldreher, Miller, Crowley and Layden, Notre Dame has one of the most versatile and generally fine backfields in the country. Miller is one of the outstanding stars of the season.

Yale has a wonderful array of backfield talent in Richeson, Neals, Neidlinger, Mallory, Stevens, Pond, Bench and Murphy. They are all so good that the coaches can hardly pick a regular quartet. For quality and quantity perhaps the Yale backs are the best in the country.

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Musterole is a counter-irritant that relieves congestion (which is what a cold really is) and stimulates circulation. It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

Just rub it on with your finger-tips. First you will feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness.

To Mothers: Musterole is now made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole. 35c and 65c in jars and tubes.

Social Notes

The Shakespeare Club will be entertained tonight at the home of Mrs. A. L. Gary in North Harrison street.

The War Mothers will meet Wednesday afternoon in the assembly room of the court house. All the members are requested to be present.

Mrs. Golda Menden and Walter Ross Parrish, both residents of Carthage, were quietly married at eight o'clock Monday evening at the Friends parsonage, the Rev. Ida T. Parker, performing the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Parrish are well known residents of Carthage, and will make their home there.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dolan entertained Sunday afternoon at their home north of Glenwood, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schumacher and children and Miss Helen Shields of Indianapolis, Mr. and Mrs. Alf Sexton and daughter Alice, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Dolan and daughter Mildred and Miss Ester Masters of Falmouth.

Mrs. John Frazee entertained with a shower and tea this afternoon at her home in North Harrison street for Mrs. J. M. Amos, who is moving this week into her new home south of the city. Mr. and Mrs. Amos have just completed a beautiful, modern bungalow to replace the house on their farm which was burned last winter.

Mrs. Robert Jordan delightfully entertained last Friday with a dinner party honoring her sister, Mrs. Charles Velt, of Norfolk, Va., at her home near Arlington. Covers were laid for Mrs. Floyd Woods, Mrs. John Nelson, Mrs. George Carwin, Mrs. Elmer Hutchinson, Mrs. Chas. Rucker, Mrs. Elmer Reagle and daughter Katherine, Mrs. Charles Velt, Mrs. C. Earl Downey and son Buford Clair.

Arrangement are being completed for the college Melling Pot Bazaar

which will be given Friday and Saturday at the Spink-Arms in Indianapolis and which includes the following colleges, Vassar, Western, Indiana University, Wellesley, Smith, Earlham, Butler and Purdue. Among the assistants in the Butler booth, will be Miss Helen Matlock, of this city, who is a student of that college; and Mrs. Birney Spradling, who is known in this city, will be assistant in the Earlham booth.

Workers for the Butler booth were guests of Mrs. St. Clair Parry at tea today, at her home in Indianapolis. Assisting Mrs. Parry were Mrs. Christine Maury and Mrs. Minnie O. Williams. Included among the guests that were present was Helen Matlock, of this city. Miss Matlock will have charge of the Butler booth, together with another girl, on Saturday evening from four o'clock until 8:30 o'clock.

The Band of Workers of the First Presbyterian church will meet in the parlors of the church Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Dick Beale, Miss Laura Meredith and Mrs. Fanny Miller acting as hostesses. Every member is invited to attend this meeting.

Miss Allene Smith entertained a number of young people Sunday evening with a six o'clock dinner at her home, 815 North Sexton street. Those present were Helen Meyers, Lois Hall, Elizabeth Hood, Elizabeth Manning, John Cameron, Floyd Kennedy, Kenneth Tabor, Ralph Stant, Ora Waggoner, Howard Kennedy and Lowell Smith. After the dinner the guests enjoyed music and games.

The Friendship Class of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church will entertain Thursday afternoon with a musical tea at the home of Mrs. Charles Fisher, 235 West Third street, and the members of the Ladies Aid societies of the different churches of the city, have been invited as guests. The hours are from 1:30 to 3:30 p. m. and from 4 p. m. to 6 p. m. and at the party a silver offering will be taken, the proceeds to be applied to the new basement fund.

The Misses Mary Louise Tabor and Helen Julia Murphy were charming little hostesses Saturday afternoon when they entertained the members of their Sunday school class of the First Presbyterian church at the home of the former in East Eleventh street. The members enjoyed the afternoon with contests, games and music. As the closing feature of the delightful party, the hostesses served delicious refreshments.

A very pleasant meeting of the W-Hub club was held Monday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. F. McClanahan in North Morgan street, when the club members entertained with a prettily appointed six o'clock dinner party, honoring Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Thomas, of San Juan, Porto Rico, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Payne, who are leaving soon for their new home in West Palm Beach, Florida. Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Churchill of Buffalo, N. Y., were also guests at this meeting. Following the serving of the repast, the guests spent an informal social evening together. All the members were present except the two who have been seriously ill, T. M. Green and B. F. Miller, but they are convalescing and are expected to be with the club when it meets again.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas will leave Thursday morning for Washington, D. C. where they will spend ten days visiting with friends before returning to Porto Rico, where Mr. Thomas is head of the Federal Land Bank. They have been making an extended visit with relatives and friends in this county. Mr. and Mrs. Payne will leave Wednesday for their new home in West Palm Beach, Florida. Both Mr. and Mrs. Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. Payne have been active members of the W-Hub club for a number of years, and the dinner party was given in their honor, as the club wanted to express their appreciation of their membership, and also as an expression of regret of their departure from the club.

Miss Maggie Gray was hostess Monday afternoon to the members of the Get-To-Gether club at her home in North Main street. The members, who were all present, with the exception of one, enjoyed the hours over needlework. As closing feature of the meeting, delicious refreshment were served.

Mrs. Demarellus Brown of Indianapolis gave a splendid lecture Monday afternoon on "Her recent Travels in Africa" at the guest day meeting of the Monday Circle, which was held at the home of Mrs. Ed Chambers in East Seventh street. Mrs. Brown gave a vivid description of Africa, as she saw it on her trip, in her usual pleasing manner, and all those present for the meeting were delighted with her talk. Among the guests present were Mrs. Leroy Churchill of Buffalo, N. Y., Mrs. Daniel Crumley Green of Fort Smith, Ark., Mrs. Ernest Thomas and San Juan, Porto Rico, Mrs. J. E. Walther of Glenwood and Mrs. Ernest Stoner of Greencastle, Ind.

As the climax of the guest day meeting, the hostess and her assistants, Mrs. Roy Waggoner, Mrs. Ione Chavehill and Mrs. John P. Frazee, Jr., served the guests with dainty refreshments. The pretty home of Mrs. Chambers was prettily decorated for the party in bouquets and wall pockets of yellow chrysanthemums.

SHLWIB

A baby boy weighing ten and one-half pounds was born this morning to the wife of W. H. Frank, formerly Miss Nelle Amos, at their home, 817 North Perkins street. The baby was named Thomas Amos.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Pyke of near Orange, on Monday afternoon, a baby boy, who has been named Gerald Norris. Mrs. Pyke was formerly Miss Freda Norris.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

A marriage license has been issued to Walter Ross Parrish, a pool room owner of Carthage, and Mrs. Goldie Marie Menden, also of that place.

MORE THAN BILLION CHRISTMAS SEALS ON THE MARKET THIS YEAR

A total of $3,842,500 was given in 1922 by citizens of the United States in exchange for Tuberculosis Christmas Seals. This year more than 1 billion Seals are on the market. In the sixteen years in which the annual Tuberculosis Christmas Seal Sale has been carried on throughout the country, more than $25,000,000 has been raised by this unique method, and all of it has been expended in the nationwide educational campaign that has resulted in lowering the death rate from tuberculosis and proving to hundreds of American communities that this dreadful "White Plague" is both preventable and curable.

This year the Tuberculosis Christmas Seals will go on sale in this community late in November, and will be sold until the New Year. People

The skirts of new dresses have a tendency to bunch their fullness either in front or at the sides. The extra material is usually taken up in pleats as in the frocks sketched. The side-pleated model has an interesting waistline treatment. The second has a long tunic which parts in front to show the pleated panel there.

Fashion's Latest Whims In Silks

The Silks of Today are artistic creations. Not only lustrous shiny satins are very much in vogue, but rich brocades and many metallized fabrics for evening wear.

PRINTED SILKS are shown in a startling fantasy of designs and color. Satin-back Crepe is a very popular fabric that may be made up with either the dull or shiny side out or to combine both textures gives a pleasing contrast of gloss and shadow, a yard $3.00 to $4.00

EXTENSIVE SHOWING CLASPS AND BUCKLES BEADED MOTIFS TRIMMING FLOWERS

in all sections of the country have had a share in helping to spread information and teaching the public how to prevent and combat the disease.

A recent summary of the actual results accomplished in the United States from the money resulting from Seal purchases shows that the important media used for stamping out the disease have been approximately as follows:

(1) About 650 institutions now make provision for caring for tuberculous patients. Sixteen years ago there were but 100 such institutions.

At the present time there are approximately 66,000 beds available in the United States for the care of the tuberculous.

(2) More than 555 clinics and dispensaries have been established where persons may go for periodical, physical examinations and there discover the disease in time for treatment.

(3) At least 12,000 public health nurses, many of them having special training for tuberculosis work, now seek out the disease in the schools and homes and give instructions and help in the ways of health.

(4) Research workers have collected data on the disease of untold value in the fight against the "White Plague".

(5) Statisticians have been kept continually at work compiling necessary information.

(6) An educational campaign, nationwide, has resulted in the distribution of more than 1,000,000 pieces of printed matter, pointing out the road to health for all ages, types and classes of both native and foreign born.

(7) The Modern Health Crusade has been made possible. Through it more than 8,000,000 school children throughout this country and abroad have learned daily health habits.

(8) At least 3,000 open air schools, preventoria, outdoor camps for children, and other establishments have been set up, wherein persons predisposed to tuberculosis may be brought back to normal life.

(9) The Seal money has financed lecturers, speakers, demonstrations and exhibits, motion pictures, health plays and pageants, posters and health stories.

(10) The Seal Sale itself has been one of the great factors in the spreading of the scientific knowledge through which resistance in the health of the body politic has been built up throughout the United States.

The 1923 Christmas Seal in this community is a part of this national state and local movement for better health.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.

First Showing Tonight

"If Winter Comes" tells the story of a pair of misadventured couples who revolt, each expressing his or her combinatorial distresses in a different way. It was evident that many of those who attended the picture's premiere showing this afternoon, were familiar with Hutchinson's story. It will be here three days—today, Wednesday and Thursday at the Castle theatre.

As the picture opened, showing vivid scenes of English town life, part of the audience whispered of the striking resemblance it bore toward Hutchinson's description. During the flow of the story, from Mark Sabre's first acknowledgment of the fact that he had made an unwise marriage to Lady Tybar, who had also suffered under a misalliance, the audience was enthusiastically responsive.

"If Winter Comes" is spectacularly dramatic. The cast is unusually able; the players ideally suited to their roles. It is most extraordinary that so difficult a novel to film as Hutchinson's "If Winter Comes" should present such splendid motion picture entertainment.

Princess. It will remain here today and Wednesday. But even the most enthusiastic applause can't compare with the cheering of the crowd that witnessed the filming of the climb in "Safety Last."

Somehow the news got about that the famous comedian was to use the Bank of Italy building at the corner of First and Spring Streets in Los Angeles to film a scene for one of his forthcoming productions. Three hours before the comedian arrived the streets around the tall building were crowded with admirers of the star. When Harold appeared on the scene, he was noisily welcomed, and as the directors and cameramen made their preparations, the crowd settled down, expecting to see the filming of a comic street scene.

They saw, instead one of the most daring stunts ever performed for the camera. As Harold continued his climb, the huge audience showed its appreciation by breathless interest, applauding now and then at some especially reckless performance by the star.

Feature at Mystic Today

There was not a disappointed person among the spectators at the Mystic Theatre last night when the William Fox spectacular melodrama, "The Silent Command," was given its first showing in this city and which is on view again today only. It is a big picture from every point of view, a special feature with every right to the name.

The story is built around an attempt of a band of international spies to blow up the Panama Canal. Captain Richard Decatur of the United States Navy is assigned to work his way into the good graces of the band and learn their plans. The task is an extremely difficult one. It is likewise very risky. His life is endangered on several occasions. The game on both sides is a desperate one. Decatur wins through his quick brain and iron nerve. The spies try in every way to trap him. A beautiful woman is employed to compromise him and is temporarily successful. The officer's wife is made to believe that he is unfaithful. He is drummed out of the service for disloyalty, but is vindicated and all ends happily.

MAY BE ADDED TO THE MONON

C. I. & W. Consolidation Discussed By Commerce Commission

Consolidation of the Cincinnati, Indianapolis & Western railroad, formerly the C. I. & W., which runs through Rushville, with the Indianapolis and Louisville railway (The Monon Route) is being strongly considered, according to reports from Washington, where hearings are being conducted by the interstate commerce commission regarding consolidation of railroads under the 1920 transportation act.

It is also being proposed that these two roads be merged with the Baltimore & Ohio, but this is regarded as impractical by railroad men. The manager of the Monon and the C. I. & W. is popular because the two roads have always co-operated successfully.

MRS. BUTLER'S
ACHES AND PAINSVanished After Using Lydia
E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

W. Philadelphia, Pa. — "When I cleaned house last April I must have overfitted, for after that I had pains and aches all the time and was so discouraged. I could hardly do my own housework, and I could not carry a basket of groceries from the store nor walk even four or five squares without getting terrible pains in my back and abdomen and lower limbs. I went to visit a friend in Mt. Holly, N. J., and she said, 'Mrs. Butler, why don't you take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' My husband said that if it did her so much good for the same trouble, I should try it. So I have taken it and it is doing me good. Whenever I feel heavy or bad, it puts me right on my feet again. I am able to do my work with pleasure and am getting strong and stout. I still take the Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, and am using Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash." — Mrs. CHARLES BUTLER, 1223 S. Hanson St., W. Phila., Pa.

SOY BEAN STUBBLE FOUND TO BE BEST

Acre on Average

ALSO MEANS TO SAVE LABOR

Another Indirect Benefit From Sowing Soy Beans is Found in Volun-
teers Coming up in Wheat

Eight farmers who grew soy beans last year followed recommendation of Purdue and the county agent and sowed wheat following the soy bean crop. These fields were watched and carefully checked for results. It was found that wheat on soy bean stubble ground out-yielded wheat on corn ground three bushels to the acre on the average, one farmer reporting an increase of 4.9 bushels on measured ground.

These fields demonstrated that wheat follows soy beans to good advantage in the rotation, not only in respect to increased yield, but also as a means of saving labor. In most cases no special preparation of seed bed was given, the wheat being sowed directly in the bean stubble with a large drill. Where any preparation at all was given, it consisted of single disking ahead of the drill.

Another indirect benefit from growing soy beans ahead of wheat was found in the volunteer soy beans that came up in the wheat. The volunteer plants did not interfere with the wheat and after the crop was removed, made considerable growth, affording considerable good pasture in connection with the clover that was sown in the wheat.

One farmer, after harvesting his

The county agent is cooperating with teachers of agriculture in the rural schools in carrying out a detailed study of corn production. The work started early in September with field work in seed selection. Teachers were asked to require each pupil to select and store a minimum of fifty seed ears, according to methods recommended in school.

Complete reports of this work have not been received but incomplete reports show that 169 boys have selected a total of 7,916 ears of seed and have stored in according to approved methods.

The classes are following the seed selection work with exercises in scoring and judging and will take up the study of seed testing in season. The laboratory and home work is being supplemented with class room work on the various phases of corn production.

wheat crop, turned a hundred head of sheep into the stubble field. The sheep consumed the volunteer beans almost entirely before they began to graze on the fine stand of clover present. Another farmer reports that the only field in which he succeeded in getting a stand of clover in wheat was in wheat shown in soy bean stubble. He is confident that the bean stubble protected the young clover against damage from dry freezing weather conditions in the spring.

TO BE AT CLAYPOOL HOTEL

Co-operative Marketing Will Be Among The Business Topics—
Aaron Sapiro to Speak

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 15.—Final details of the fifth annual convention of the Indiana Farm Bureau Federation, to be held December 6 and 7 at Indianapolis, have been completed by Perry H. Crane, Executive Secretary of the Federation. The convention will open at the Claypool on the morning of December 6, with the annual address of the President, William H. Settle. This will be followed by reports of departmental heads, printed copies of which will be distributed among the delegates. In the afternoon of the first day general discussions of matters brought up by county farm bureaus will be on the program. In the evening the annual election of officers will be held, the Indiana Farm Bureau Federation motion picture will be shown and there will be given a program of social and educational features and music.

Walton Peteet, Director of Co-operative Marketing for The American Farm Bureau Federation, will address the convention on the morning of the second day on "The Fundamentals of Co-operative Marketing." Geoffrey Morgan, Secretary of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation, also will speak at this session, his subject being "The Relationship

REPORT OUTBREAK OF CHOLERA IN INDIANA

Epidemic Has Resulted in Death of Approximately 20,000 Hogs This
Year, According to Report

OF MORE VIRULENT TYPE

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 14.—The greatest outbreak of hog cholera since 1921 has been reported from nearly all sections of Indiana, Director Haskins of the hog cholera division of Indiana Livestock Sanitary board, said today.

The epidemic has resulted in death of approximately 20,000 hogs this year, he said.

Besides being widespread, cholera this year is of a more virulent type, which used to be prevalent before serum treatment was known.

The situation is most serious in Bartholomew, Wabash, Huntington, and Wells counties and in some parts of adjacent counties. In other counties outbreaks are more sporadic.

"Cause of this fall's outbreak is that many farmers, neglecting the immunization of pigs, prefer to gamble on getting hogs to market before cholera appears," he said. "The reason for this is that the immigration process increases in cost as the animals grow."

Reports from stockyards indicate that many hogs are being rushed to markets in hope that they will be slaughtered before disease becomes noticeable, he said. However, many are being sorted out by inspectors at almost total loss to owners.

"In the U. S. 2,500,000 hogs died of cholera, in 1922," Haskins said. "This cost America about $20,000,000."

WINTER COURSE BEGINS JAN. 21

Annual Agriculture and Home Economics Course At Purdue University Has Been Announced

Under Heading Of General Agriculture All Important Lines Of Farm
Work Will Be Taken Up

The annual eight weeks' winter course in agriculture and home economics will be given at Purdue University again the coming winter, from Jan. 21 to March 14. This announcement was made today at the office of Dean J. H. Skinner, of the College of Agriculture.

"The farmer must be more efficient than ever before to succeed under present conditions. The farm business needs leaders. Winter course men in other years have found this course helpful on these scores," said Dean Skinner.

Courses will be offered in general agriculture, animal husbandry, dairy manufacturing, dairy production, and home economics. Several new features are being taken up under each course including studies in marketing, which is engaging so much attention of agricultural people.

The Department of Farm Management and Agricultural Economics will teach marketing subjects.

Under the heading of general agriculture, all important lines of farm work will be taken up, with men from the various departments doing the teaching. There will be special instruction in farm orcharding, poultry raising, soils, crops, livestock, dairying, farm management including marketing of various agricultural products, and several other topics of vital interest to the farm.

The animal husbandry course has been planned especially for men who want to handle farms of their own where most of the crops are fed, or wish to take over management of livestock farms. Including breeding, feeding and management and production will be taken up in this course.

The dairy manufacturing course is outlined especially for men who wish to take positions in creameries, ice cream or milk plants, or men already in creameries and wish to get more information to fit them-

ONE GOAL IS TO CUT FOOD COST

to Meet Market Demands

FINISH EXHAUSTIVE SURVEY

Blair County, Pa., Farmers Produced Less Products Used in
Their Own Consuming District

Cutting food cost to the consumer and increasing returns to the producer by farmers better meeting the demands of local markets is one of the goals of the balanced production project of the farm bureau.

In Blair County, Pennsylvania, an exhaustive survey has just been completed, showing how near the farmers in that county are meeting local market demands. The survey was carried out through the co-operation of the Department of Agriculture, the Pennsylvania State Bureau of Markets, the Pennsylvania State College and Blair County Farm Bureau. B. H. Critchfield, Farm Market Analyst of the Department of Agriculture, was in charge of the survey.

The analysis in the Pennsylvania county concerned itself with three large points: (1) The consumptive demand; (2) The present production; (3) The possible production.

It was shown that the Blair County farmers last year produced less than 10 percent of the eggs, less than 12 percent of the potatoes, and less than 22 percent of the dressed poultry used in their own consuming district.

Poultry and egg products, potato growing and dairying were shown

MICHIKOFF SHOWS WELL IN TEST HERE

New Variety of Hard Winter Wheat
Tried Out on Eight Rush County
Farms This Year

800 ACRES SOWN THIS FALL

Michikoff, the new variety of hard winter wheat developed by the Purdue Agricultural Experiment Station, was tested out on eight farms in Rush county and the variety was found to be well adapted to local conditions, especially in the black soils.

On these test fields the yields were found to be from 20 to 35 bushels to the acre and the product was all of excellent quality, testing 60 pounds or better to the bushel.

The wheat made such a good showing that there was a considerable demand for the seed from other farmers for sowing this fall. All nine Rush county farmers who tried it out this year sowed at least one field this fall and two of them sowed their entire crop to Michikoff seed.

According to records in the office, thirty-nine farmers sowed this variety this fall and the total acreage sown fall approximate 800 acres. All will be sowed to seed grown from certified seed.

Officials of the Blair County Farm Bureau are now making an intensive study of the report and plan to base a five-year program of work for the county farm bureau on the findings. Every effort is to be made by the county farm bureau to adjust the production on Blair county farms to

INDIANA LEADS AS CANNING STATE

Outranks All Other States In Can-

Pumpkin And Hominy

PURDUE COMPILES DATA

Value Of All Products Produced
Output Of 125 Factories

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 13.—Indiana has become one of the leading canning states of the nation during the last few years, according to data compiled by the Horticultural Department of Purdue University. The State leads all others in canning of tomatoes, baked beans, all other beans, pumpkin and hominy, is third on both onions and cucumber pickles, sixth in kraut pack, seventh in corn and eighth in peas. The value of all canned products produced in the state last year was $22,181,124 the output of 125 factories.

Approximately 70,000,000 cans of tomatoes were turned into the nation's food channels last year by Indiana canneries, most of the yield of 60,000 acres being devoted to this purpose. Sixty million cans of baked beans, put in Indiana, made the famed Boston product look like a pigmy. Besides this, there were a half million cans of other beans. About 6,000,000 bushels of pickles, grown in the state, found their way into one of the "57" varieties. Although there were 16,000,000 cans of corn packed in the state last year, six other states topped Indiana on quantity but not quality. The

PROMPT LOCAL TREATMENT IS NEEDED FOR CHICKEN AILMENTS

Chicken pox is a highly contagious poultry disease and occurs most frequently in epidemic form among poultry, pigeons and other birds. It is marked by the eruption of small wart-like scabs on the face, head, comb, and wattles.

In various sections it is known as Fowl Pox, Pigeon Pox, Sore-head, Scabbyhead, and Warts. The name Pox is misleading. This was originally given to the disease on account of the supposed resemblance of the eruptions to those of Small Pox in the human race, but Chicken Pox has no connection whatever with Small Pox. Also there is absolutely no relation between Chicken Pox and children and Chicken Pox and fowls. While not usually fatal in grown fowls, Chicken Pox is particularly serious with young chicks.

Chicken Pox is a disease that makes its appearance suddenly and from no principal cause, but it will spread rapidly from one bird to another. Chickens affected with this disease will inoculate show birds and in this way it may spread into many localities. In the Hawaiian Islands and other tropical countries the scourge is known as Sorehead from the fact that the entire head and face are covered with scabs. The mouth ulcerates and part of the beak is sometimes eaten off.

There are two varieties of Chicken Pox. The dry variety is shown above in the accompanying photograph. This occurs in small patches. The wet variety is shown at the right in the illustration and is distinguished by the ulcers becoming wet, the moisture from them flowing down over the face and into the nostrils and doing great injury.

Although Chicken Pox is known

to be an infectious disease, the principal cause of the infection has not been satisfactorily determined. It is sufficient for the poultryman to know that it is contagious and should be promptly attended to when it occurs. Some scientists believe that roup, Avian (bird) diphtheria, and chicken pox are all kindred diseases.

When Chicken Pox occurs among chickens their heads become swollen and covered with small sores, which frequently grow over the eyelids and causes blindness. This prevents them from eating and the chickens are liable to die of starvation. In fowls the wart-like lumps grow about the eyes, face, beak and throat and on the comb, as shown in the illustration above. One of the dangers of this lies in the fact that the scabs are frequently mistaken for the healing of the sore places and treatment is neglected at a time when it might be stopped.

Whatever future experiments may demonstrate as to the cause of chicken pox, experience has proved that many outbreaks are of such a character that prompt local treatment, resulting in the destruction of the poisonous material (virus) in the scab, appears to check the disease. Knowing chicken pox to be an infectious disease, the course of treatment is clear: (1) The sick fowls should be separated from the well. (2) All fowls sick and well should receive a dose of Epsom salts. (3) The premises should be thoroughly disinfected. (4) Potassium permanganate or carbolic acid should be added to the drinking water in the same proportions as de-

touched with a 10 percent solution of argyrol or protargol, and a drop or two put into each eye. If the mouth becomes affected and roopy patches present themselves, the nose and mouth should be treated for roup by injecting a little hydrogen peroxide into the nostrils. The patches should be removed from the mouth and the mouth swabbed with a solution of equal parts of hydrogen peroxide and water.

Absolute cleanliness, plenty of fresh air and wholesome food will go far toward effecting a cure. If there were no insect vermin and no filth about the premises where poultry is kept there would be so little disease among them as to make the rearing of chicks almost certain.

Although chicken pox and other infectious and contagious diseases are not directly caused by filth, unsanitary conditions greatly aggravate the disease. Treatments commonly recommended are: (1) Wash the affected places with a solution of bluestone (sulphate of copper), one drachm to eight ounces of water. (2) With the dry variety the crusts, or scabs, may be removed and the raw spots treated with creoline. The same preparation is used for the moist variety by dropping creoline from a medicine dropper over the affected parts. (3) The head and face of chicks that are affected may be washed with a sponge in a solution of 20 percent of creoline and ten drops of carbolic acid in one pint of water. This solution may be used for cleansing aggravated cases of sore head, and it has been used even stronger than is recommended. Either creoline or zenoleum may be used for the purpose. Care should be taken to first test the mixture on a fowl that is badly affected so as to learn whether it is painful to them. If so, more water should be added to the solution.

MIGHT HAVE BEEN A SECOND JENNY LIND

Pt. Wayne, Ind., Nov. 20—The story of a woman who might have been a second Jenny Lind was recalled here with the death of Mrs. John Erickson, 73.

Mrs. Erickson was first cousin of the Swedish nightingale and was at one time the leading soprano of the royal court at Stockholm.

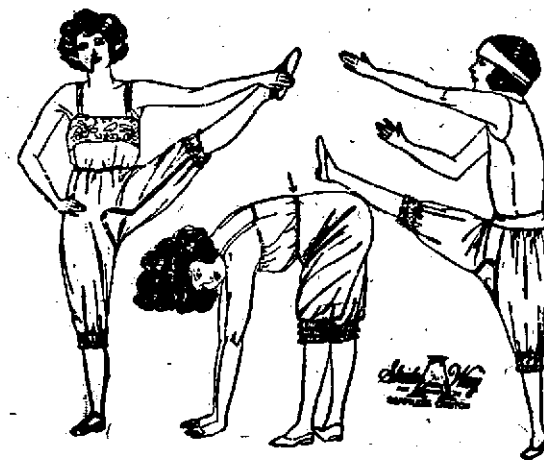

Then she met and married Erickson and put aside her musical career while her cousin, introduced to America by P. T. Barnum, became one of the greatest singers the world has ever known.

Mrs. Erickson seldom sang except at the services of the Swedish Lutheran church, of which she was a member.

Sayda Recently Completed a Yearly
Record of 13,927.9 Pounds of
Milk And 722 Lbs. of Fat

COW WAS TEN YEARS OLD

During Record Cow Was Fed Good
Quality Alfalfa Hay, Corn Silage
And Ground Up Grain

The third yearly record of 700 pounds of butterfat or over has been finished within the year in the Purdue University Dairy Herd when the pure bred Jersey, Purdue's Sayda 304643 recently completed a yearly record of 13,927.9 pounds of milk and 722.12 pounds of fat. This cow is one of the good Jerseys in the Purdue herd and while this is the largest production she has ever made she has an average production for the last three years of 11,430.9 pounds of milk and 595 pounds of fat.

A very remarkable thing in connection with this record is the fact that Purdue's Sayda was ten years old at the time of finishing this record, and while many dairy farmers feel that their cows have lost most of their usefulness at this age, it is here demonstrated that good care and good breeding make possible continued high production.

This cow's sire was by the Imported Jap, one of the best Jersey bulls ever brought to America. Purdue's Sayda has three sisters in the Purdue herd all of which are entered in the Register of Merit. These and other cows in the herd are used primarily for instructional and demonstration purposes in the dairy class work.

During this record this cow was fed good quality alfalfa hay, corn silage and a grain ration made up of ground corn, ground oats, bran, linseed oilmeal, soybean oilmeal and cottonseed meal. She also received some soaked beet pulp. She is not a large cow, but had a good appetite and was a consistent producer.

The offspring of such cows as Purdue's Sayda are the kind of stock that will put dairy production on a better paying basis in Indiana.

PLANS MADE FOR GRAIN, HAY SHOW

Highest Achievement of American Farmer Will be on Display at Livestock Exhibition in Chicago

5,000 ENTRIES EXPECTED

Awarding of Grand Champion Corn Cup to Individual Farmer to be Main Feature of Show

The highest achievement of the American farmer will be on display at the International Grain and Hay Show held in connection with the International Livestock Exposition at the Union Stock Yards Chicago, the first week of December.

More than five thousand entries are expected by the college agronomists who have sole charge of the judging of the samples of grain and hay and who have determined the regions which are to contest for the twelve thousand dollars in premiums offered by the Chicago Board of Trade for the best exhibits.

This is the fifth annual Grain and Hay Show and not the least of the interest attached is the awarding of the Grand Champion Corn Cup, a massive silver trophy presented by the Chicago Board of Trade to the individual farmer who exhibits the best ten ears of corn.

So far in the annual competition the middle west corn belt has held the championship, but the contest is open to all sections of the country as well as Canada.

The Junior Corn Clubs, scattered over the country from Maine to Texas, this year are planning great things in their exhibits. The youngsters will compete for a Junior Championship Corn Cup, likewise the gift

PURDUE HORTICULTURAL SHOW WAS AN EDUCATIONAL DISPLAY

By L. G. HOBSON

The Purdue Horticultural Show, held at the Purdue Greenhouses November 2, 3, 4 and 5, proved one of the big events of the year at the University. Coming as it does early in November an exceptionally large display of chrysanthemums and other flowers provides one of the leading features of the show. Large displays of apples and vegetables made the show a well balanced Horticultural exposition which is annually attended by approximately 10,000 persons.

Organized by the Horticultural students of the University, the show is entirely under student management and gives the students a training and experience in planning and managing large affairs.

In addition to magnificent competitive displays of apples and vegetables many feature exhibits of an educational nature were made up and shown by the students. Notable among these were the "Development of the Apple from Embryo," in which the development of the apple from seed to tree bearing luscious fruit was shown by means of artistic drawings. A spreader exhibit showed the effect of different sprayers on the covering power of spray solutions and demonstrated the value of these recent developments in the spray field.

The Indiana Canners' Association provided material for an excellent display of canned products showing the importance of this state as a canning center. Another interesting of the grain exchange, with which goes the honor of having raised the best ten ears of junior corn.

Glenn Rhares, thirteen years old, of Shelbyville, Indiana, won the Junior trophy last and is in the competition again.

A chicken exhibit which provided living proof of the value of vegetables in the diet created unusual interest among the visitors. Six chickens had been fed all they would consume of a ration containing all elements necessary to health except vitamins. Three of these received in addition all the ripe tomatoes they would eat. The chickens receiving no tomatoes, hence no vitamins, were undersized and in poor condition.

The greenhouses displayed many perfectly blended colors throughout the show and all visitors were impressed both by the beauty and the educational value of the display.

Challenges Judge Lindsey

Indianapolis, Ind.—Judge Frank J. Lahr, of the Marion county juvenile court, challenged the statements made by Judge Ben B. Lindsey, of Denver, regarding the alarming number of illegal operations on women and girls.

"Judge Lindsey has a tendency to make startling statements," said the local jurist, in commenting on Judge Lindsey's declaration that there are 15,000 such operations in Denver each year.

"Cities of about the same size have about the same morals," Judge Lahr said. "There is nothing like that in Indianapolis. In all my years on the bench in Indianapolis, I have had very few cases come before me."

BALANCED RATION PAYS DAIRYMEN

Should Feed Each Cow According to Individual Requirements Such as Size And Milk Production

For Each Dollar's Worth of Feed Consumed, These Cows Returned $2.15 in Production

By E. A. GANNON
(Dairy Extension Staff, Purdue University)

Since the pasture season is over, the question of what to feed the dairy cow is very important. The statement is often made that it does not pay to feed grain. Perhaps it does not when cows are not dairy cows, and when the quantity of grain fed may be small and of poor quality, which will not increase production.

Economical production requires a balanced ration first, and then feed each cow according to her individual requirements, such as her size, and the quantity and quality of milk produced.

Where no silage is available, a cow will consume two pounds of good dry roughage per 100 pound live weight. If silage is available, then feed one pound of dry roughage and three pounds of silage per 100 pound of live weight.

Where alfalfa or clover hay is available, a grain mixture consisting of 400 pounds ground corn, 200 pounds ground oats or bran, and 100 pounds cotton seed meal, soybean meal or linseed oil meal should be fed.

When timothy and other non-leguminous roughages are fed, the grain mixture should consist of the following: 10 pounds ground corn, 200 pounds ground oats or bran, and 100 pounds linseed oil meal, soybean meal or cottonseed meal.

One pound of either of the grain mixtures, depending on the kind of hay available, should be fed for each 3 pounds of Jersey or Guernsey milk or 4 pounds of Holstein or Ayrshire milk. When silage is not available, a little more grain should be fed.

Six cows that had Cow Testing Association records were fed at the Purdue Experiment Station, and have completed their year's records with an increase of 56.8% in milk, and 41.8 percent in butterfat. The increase in feed cost was $20.54, and the income increase $44.28 over the income of the previous year. For each dollar's worth of feed consumed, these cows returned $2.15 in production. These cows were fed the Purdue ration according to individual production.

NATIONAL MARKETING CONFERENCE CALLED

Farm Bureau Leaders Interested in Co-operative Marketing Will Meet in Chicago, Dec. 8

TO PRECEDE A. F. B. MEET

A national conference of farm bureau leaders interested in co-operative marketing will be held in Chicago, Saturday, December 8, at the Sherman Hotel, 10:00 a. m.

This conference is called by Walton Peete, director of co-operative marketing for the American Farm Bureau Federation. The date has been fixed to permit the attendance of delegates and others who will come to Chicago to attend the annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation, December 10-12. By leaving home a day or two earlier state leaders may attend this conference with very slight additional expense.

The purpose of the conference is to afford an opportunity for state leaders to confer with Director Peete on their marketing problems.

pack of peas was 6,000,000 cans and krait, 2,000.

Besides these important lines, all other crops grown in the Middle West and used for canning purposes were canned at a more or less extent.

"This state has taken the first place for quality as well as quantity in many lines of canned food stuffs and Indiana products are obtaining a national reputation rapidly because of it," said one of the horticultural men.

The Indiana Canners' Association has taken steps to arouse a keener appreciation within the state for Indiana canned products, starting with a big display of canned vegetables at the recent horticultural show at Purdue. Others will be held over the state.

selves for managers or superintendents. Some work also is given on production. There are many calls for trained men who are capable of managing creameries and ice cream factories.

This dairy production course has been prepared especially for men who wish to operate their own dairies, enter business or take the management of large dairy farms. The home economics course is especially for farm women who wish

more information on various topics of household management.

All the work is given by regular Purdue instructors and the same laboratories as those used by the regular four year students are used for winter course instruction. All the courses are designed for farm men and women who cannot come for the four years work, and given an immediate return.

Columbus—Bartholomew county is short on hickory nuts this year. There was a plentiful crop, but the squirrels were more plentiful and got there first.

Similar consumption and production surveys have been planned by the Department of Agriculture for other states. The county farm bureaus in adjoining states to Pennsylvania have shown much interest in the Blair county project and have indicated the desire for a like survey upon which to base their production program.

Following the report of the Department of Agriculture on the Blair

County project, a list of recommendations and suggestions were submitted.

These recommendations pointed out the outstanding needs by commodities, and in addition, urged the necessity of keeping accurate farm accounts as a basis for knowledge farming rather than guess farming.

Carlisle—The best dispositioned speedster has been found here. A Carlisle man was arrested for driving too fast and after he had paid his fine he bought cigars for the officers. They are eagerly waiting for another arrest.
